Dr. Carolina Bustamante, a native of Colombia, holds a master’s degree in Spanish education from the University of Nebraska-Kearney and a doctoral degree in foreign language education from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. She is an Assistant Professor in the School of Education and Modern Languages Department at the State University of New York at Old Westbury since 2014. She coordinates the Graduate Spanish Adolescence Education Program and teaches courses on language pedagogy for second language learners and heritage speakers, second language acquisition, Spanish, and supervises graduate theses. She has also worked as an instructor for STARTALK programs at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln providing professional development for teachers of Chinese and Spanish, and seminars on mixed methods research at the TESOL division at the University of Cambridge, England, and Graduate School of Education at the University of Pretoria, South Africa. She has been a presenter at conferences at the state, national, and international level. Additionally, in an effort to empower pre-service teachers through early engagement in the professional community, she has hosted a poster session at the New York State Association of Foreign Language Teachers (NYSAFLT), Northeast Conference on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (NECTFL), and Long Island Language Teachers (LILIT) annual conferences within the last three years, where her students have presented unit plans that feature an integrated performance assessment (IPA). Her published research has focused on professional development on technology for teachers of Chinese, German, and Spanish, the use of procedural diagrams and joint displays in mixed methods research, and the motivation, experiences, and challenges of heritage speakers of Spanish as pre-service teachers. Her current research interests include development of heritage speakers as language teachers, implementation of IPA, and innovative methods to merge quantitative and qualitative data. She enjoys spending time with her bilingual three-year-old son, family, and friends, traveling, biking, and dancing salsa.

Beckie’s path towards proficiency-focused teaching began at a regional conference her first year in the classroom. That taste of performance-based assessing encouraged Beckie to lead a K-12 district move towards thematic units. Over a decade later, Beckie is still a teacher leader, modeling lifelong learning and empowering her students to grow their French language communication and intercultural competence in the classroom, community, and annual exchange. A member of the MaFLA and AATF Eastern MA boards among others, Beckie is a PD junkie who loves to network with other teachers and share research-based best practices. Mindfulness, reflection, standards-based grading, and social justice infused thematic units are her current action research themes. To recharge, she love to sail, cook, practice yoga, travel, and garden.

Both Beckie’s emerging leaders graduate program (MAEd at Wake Forest University) and her involvement with ACTFL’s Leadership Initiative for Language Learning (LILL) have pushed her to increase her knowledge, skills, and passion for supporting teachers of all languages and all levels. Her work as Chair for the 2019 Massachusetts Fall Conference combined a vision for her state, a detail-oriented organization, and a desire to serve a variety of teachers in a plethora of contexts. Through MaFLA, she has initiated reflect and work opportunities after longer workshops, round-table Q&A on hot topics at the conference, and self-care opportunities during PD. Hoping to join the NECTFL Board to serve the region through advocacy and increased collaboration, Beckie seeks to continue the cycle of educators providing opportunities to work together towards excellent teaching and learning.

Currently, Beckie teaches French at Lexington High School (MA). Her highlight-of-career moments include a year of teaching French to gap year American students in Bouaké (Côte d’Ivoire), serving as the chair for ACTFL’s Global Engagement Initiative, writing for The Language Educator, and being elected to the executive track of MaFLA.

Dr. Frank Ruggiero is the district supervisor of world languages for grades 6-12 in the Edison Public Schools (NJ) and was previously the K-12 supervisor of world languages & ESL in both the Livingston Public Schools (NJ) and the Nutley Public Schools (NJ). In these roles, he implemented the Seal of Biliteracy and oversaw a comprehensive program review leading to a programmatic shift that included the design and implementation of integrated performance assessments. Under Frank’s leadership, the staff in his departments actively seek out professional development opportunities; and they also seek out opportunities to present their work with organizations such as NJEA, NJTESOL/NJBE, FLENJ, NECTFL, and the American Classical League.

Frank initially saw himself studying mathematics or science. However, when he attended his first NECTFL conference while at Drew University, it became clear that he would pursue a career in language education. After graduation, Frank worked in international business and in French translation before joining the teaching profession. He taught French and Spanish in the Edison Public Schools (NJ) for nearly 16 years and was an adjunct at Fairleigh Dickinson University. While teaching, he completed an MAT in French and earned both an EdM and EdD in educational administration from Rutgers. Frank’s dissertation research focused on how middle school interdisciplinary teaming affected members of a school community whose approach to teaming included core subject teachers but excluded world language and all other related arts teachers.

Frank currently serves on the NADSFL advisory council and on the FLENJ board of directors as president. Professional growth has been a continuous thread throughout Frank’s 19-year career in education in both his own pursuit of growth opportunities and in his desire to help prepare the next generation of teachers and leaders. Most recently, Frank attended the ACTFL LILL summer institute and is spearheading a mentorship program for pre-service and in-service supervisors of world language departments, as part of his personal plan to give back to the profession.
Dear NECTFL colleagues and friends,

Welcome to the 66th annual Northeast Conference on the Teaching of Foreign Languages! The NECTFL Board of Directors, Executive Director John Carlino, and I have worked to create a space for you to partake in the highest quality professional learning available in the Northeast. While you are with us this weekend, you’ll get multiple opportunities to dialogue with other world language, bilingual, and immersion educators from throughout our region and beyond - all in pursuit of making our classrooms the best learning environments available.

Our regional conference is a critical event for language educators - not just for providing us with valuable professional development, but also for providing us with a forum to network with colleagues and form collaborative relationships with educators from all over the region and beyond. It is my goal that you leave this conference refreshed, invigorated, and emboldened to return to your teaching community and inspire your colleagues to be agents of change in their spheres and beyond.

Crafting this year’s theme, Languages for All: Envisioning Language Learning Opportunities for Every Learner, came naturally to me: it is a reflection of my life’s work to honor each and every student. It was my hope to create a conference that affirms that everyone deserves the opportunity to learn one or more languages in addition to their first language: no matter their age; no matter their socio-economic status; no matter the learning challenges they may face; no matter their native language.

And where better to explore the diversity of people and language but in New York City, where residents speak more than 800 different languages and whose immigrant population is constantly changing and growing. We welcome you to the Hilton Midtown and to explore all that New York City has to offer.

In addition to a diversity of workshops and sessions on general topics of interest in the field, the conference will host research roundtables and tech lab sessions where individuals present their research findings and first-hand experiences with new technology tools. Furthermore, #NECTFL20 offers featured sessions during each session time slot, which are workshops specially curated by my program committee for their strong connection to the conference theme.

We are honored to greet as our keynote speaker, Dr. José Medina, a fierce advocate for Dual Language and Bilingual Education. Known most for his work in providing dual language technical assistance, professional development, and job-embedded support to dual language programs, Dr. Medina’s keynote speech will surely inspire you as he recounts his personal journey as a language learner.

As you visit the exhibit hall, please thank our exhibitors for their contributions. Not only are there vendors but also representatives from the Northeast state organizations, consulate members, private and public institutions, and others who work with us to make the Conference a rich and meaningful experience. Once again, the state organizations have submitted outstanding candidates for the Northeast Teacher of the Year. Join us at the awards ceremony on Friday evening to meet these teachers and to congratulate the Nelson H. Brooks awardee for outstanding leadership in the field, the James W. Dodge Foreign Language Advocate Award, the Stephen A. Freeman winner for the best-published article, and the NECTFL Mead Leadership Fellows who will develop projects throughout the year that contribute to the teaching profession.

Thank you for joining us and for your contributions to the N-16 students who benefit from your continued scholarship and desire to improve world language teaching and learning. May you have an amazing conference experience! Thank you for joining us this weekend!

Pre-conference Workshops—Full Day ($100)

1. Engaging All Learners in the Language Classroom
Session: 9:30 a.m.–4:30 p.m. Beekman

Language educators are responsible to welcome and meet the needs of the wide diversity of the learners in their classroom every day. The needs of learners vary based on their background, readiness level, interests, and learning preferences. In this workshop, participants will experience and analyze key strategies for building learner confidence and proficiency. Participants will also learn to use data to plan instruction, guiding all learners to meet their goals.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Leslie Grahn, ACTFL & Howard County Public Schools, retired, MD

Intended Audience(s): PreK-16+ (all)

Keyword: Diversity

Examples in: Multiple

Language(s) spoken: English

2. ACE (Abrazando el Cambio en Español)
Teacher Workshop
Session: 9:30 a.m.–4:30 p.m. Sutton North

During this workshop, presenters will share practical strategies for teaching tactics that will help teachers keep all learners interested in Spanish from the lower levels through upper level courses. The presenters will discuss using vertical teaming and performance-based learning to meet all learners’ needs. They will also discuss how to reach students through gamification. The presenters will address 90% target language use and will present strategies to get there. When you have many students with many different voices, you want to keep them all talking!

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Linda Villadóniga, St. Johns Country School District, retired, St. Augustine, FL
Álvaro Sesmilo, Nebrija University, Madrid, Spain
Alberto Buitrago, University of Salamanca, Spain

Intended Audience(s): PreK-12

Keyword: Instructional strategies

Examples in: Spanish

Language(s) spoken: English and Spanish

3. Cultivating World Language Classrooms of Intercultural Empathy
Session: 9:30 a.m.–4:30 p.m. Sutton Center

World language classrooms allow students to grapple with their own identity and understanding of the world. World language teachers build tolerance, cultivate intercultural empathy, and foster an inclusive and safe place for all students. Through experiential and hands-on activities, the presenter will define the concept of windows and mirrors, explain a pedagogical approach for reducing implicit bias, and create a comprehensive learning plan that includes: inward and outward processes of thinking, a structured reflection, shifting of thoughts and ideas, direct and explicit teaching, and other practices. This workshop will provide you with a toolkit that will help you develop spaces where students explore the unfamiliar, but also see their own lived experiences validated and valued.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Georges Chahwan, Choate Rosemary Hall, Wallingford, CT

Intended Audience(s): PreK-16+ (all)

Keyword: Instructional strategies

Examples in: Arabic and French

Language(s) spoken: English

4. Communication, Community, and Inclusivity Through Art in a Second Language
Session: 9:30 a.m.–4:30 p.m. New York Suite, 4th Fl.

This workshop involves a field trip to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. During the first half of the day (at the conference hotel), the presenters will show how arts-based inquiry bridges cultures and helps students (re)construct social and cultural meaning as they critically examine their beliefs from various perspectives. They will demonstrate how to create instructional spaces where self-esteem, identity, and empathy can be expressed. After discussing theoretical approaches, participants will develop strategies for integrating art with relevant topics and K-16 activities. Participants will understand how to connect culture to language instruction and create engaging activities, which spark students’ imagination and creativity. During the lunch break, participants will travel to the Metropolitan Museum where they will choose works of art - both new and familiar - to integrate into their curricula. Participants will outline potential activities and will then reconvene as a group to share their ideas.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Gisela Hoecherl-Alden, Ph.D., Boston University, Boston, MA
Kathy Fegely, Antietam High School, retired, Reading, PA

Intended Audience(s): PreK-16+ (all)

Keyword: Culture/Literature

Examples in: Multiple

Language(s) spoken: English
5. Strategic Scaffolding: Leading the Way, Lending a Hand, Letting Go

Session: AM Regent

As we build programs based on proficiency principles, teachers ask the pragmatic questions: How can I help students move up the proficiency scale? What support is necessary to help students grow in proficiency and move them progressively to independent self-expression? When we target proficiency levels appropriately, we can identify key areas of needed growth and help learners to the next level. This workshop offers concrete strategies to target, scaffold, and release: show learners the way, lend a hand as needed, and then let them go! We will demonstrate, brainstorm, and develop a variety of scaffolded techniques, including explicit proficiency targets, pre-writing and pre-writing organizers and frames, language walls, level-up challenges and incentives, corrective feedback, and self-reflection.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Charlotte Gifford, Greenfield Community College, MA

Intended Audience(s): High School & College

Keyword: Instructional strategies

Examples in: French and Spanish

Language(s) spoken: English

6. Designing Articulated Assessment Transfer Tasks with the Seal of Biliteracy in Mind

Session: AM Regent

Articulation requires intentional curriculum and assessment design for proficiency goals between levels. Transfer facilitates proficiency, applying knowledge and skills differently through novel tasks with value beyond the classroom and real-world contexts. In this workshop, the presenter will guide teachers to design transfer tasks and develop specific can-do statements – planning backward from seal of biliteracy goals. Participants will see articulated assessment transfer task exemplars that solve problems and create products, articulated vertically for three key levels of student engagement. This hands-on, interactive workshop is designed for you to design and turnkey others in your department. Applicable to participants from any state, this workshop aligns with the NYSED Standards Shifts and Professional Learning Initiative.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Jennifer Eddy, Ph.D., Queens College, CUNY, Flushing, NY

Intended Audience(s): PreK-16+ (all)

Keyword: Articulation

Examples in: Multiple

Language(s) spoken: English

7. Strategies for Equitable Language Learning for All Language Learners

Session: AM Bryant

In this workshop we present practical strategies to support, empower, and advocate for all language learners – from second language learners to emergent bilinguals and plurilinguals – while also addressing the cultural and linguistic diversity within our classrooms and communities. Modeled and co-constructed activities will be based on theories of intercultural citizenship, symbolic competence, translanguaging, raciolinguistics, culturally sustaining teaching, social justice, and human rights education. After a short introduction to this interdisciplinary approach, educators will experience activities they can use. Reflective questions, activities, and units will facilitate the participants’ application in a variety of contexts.

8. Top 6 Things Every Dual Language Leader Should Advocate For

Session: AM Nassau East

This workshop will focus on dual language leadership, intentional action, and advocacy by identifying some of the most critical elements of dual language programming, the continuous improvement cycle, and biliteracy instructional best practices. District support staff, school administrators, and teacher leaders will have the opportunity to reflect upon present practices and support systems, and then identify possible action steps to ensure that they are better equipped to meet the needs of emergent bilingual students and the teachers who serve them. Additionally, as part of the presentation, dual language leaders from the field will be referenced as a means to connect research and practice.

Pre-conference Workshops – Afternoon ($50)

9. Communities: Project-based Learning and Engaged Civic Learning

Session: AM Nassau West

Too many students ask, “What’s the point of learning a language?” That question disappears with real human contact, a goal and a purpose for communication. Project-based learning and engaged civic learning make language usage relevant immediately. Discover ways to engage with local and online communities to motivate students and develop target language proficiency at the same time. Participants will learn how to create a unit in the target language to encourage students to engage with the local community.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Dana Pilla, Rutgers University, Camden, NJ

Laura Sexton, Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools, Gastonia, NC

Intended Audience(s): Secondary (6-12)

Keyword: Communities/Workplace

Examples in: Spanish

10. Access and Opportunity Through Using Technology in the Language Classroom

Session: PM Sutton South

Technology opens up so many opportunities for students who need additional support in the world language classroom. This presentation will demonstrate how to utilize free, online tools to create a more accessible language classroom for speaking, listening, reading, and writing. Some of the tools will include features, apps, and add-ons in the Google Suite, Flipgrid, Wakelet, Quizlet, Padlet, Pear Deck, and more. These tools will provide a variety of ideas for support, such as activity and assessment differentiation and choice, immediate feedback, and opportunities for engagement outside of class. Participants will use their devices to engage with and practice activities using these tools in ways that are immediately applicable to their classes.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Maureen Lamb, Kingswood Oxford School, W. Hartford, CT

Intended Audience(s): PreK-16+ (all)

Keyword: Technology

Examples in: English, Latin, and Ancient Greek

Language(s) spoken: English
11. Planning and Managing Differentiated Instruction
Session: PM  Regent
No two students learn the same way in a classroom; they have their preferences in interests, learning modalities, and learning speed. Naturally, this presents both expected and unexpected challenges for teachers every day, in any classroom. In this workshop, the presenters will approach solutions to this quintessential conundrum from three perspectives: 1) Ways to plan varied materials for content knowledge and skills that meet students' needs; 2) Ways to establish routines and manage student-centered activities that are flexible and effective, and; 3) Ways to design and implement multiple assessment systems for students to demonstrate their outcomes at the best of their abilities.

12. Launching a Learner Active World Language Classroom
Session: PM  Bryant
In today’s classrooms, student motivation and engagement play a crucial role in the effective acquisition of a second language. Research shows that our learners benefit greatly from differentiated, student-centered practice, but what does this look like in a world language classroom? This workshop will provide you with the framework you need to create authentic problem-based tasks for your units resulting in a more meaningful language-learning experience. Further takeaways include tools to set up your classroom with student-centered strategies such as small group lessons, activity menus, learning centers, and facilitation tools to monitor the progress of your students.

13. Globalizing Curriculum: Putting World Issues at the Center of Instruction
Session: PM  Nassau East
How can we expect students to grow up as multilingual global citizens without the knowledge and experience of discussing world issues in the target language? In this workshop you will learn how to use the U.N. Sustainable Development Goals and the AP Global Themes to dramatically shift your students' language learning. Let's give them something to talk about! No matter what age group or proficiency level, this session will help you adjust perspective while building meaningful proficiency with tomorrow’s global citizens.

14. Instructional Coaching Skills for Teacher Growth
Session: PM  Nassau West
Research shows that beginning teachers who receive mentoring are far more likely to remain in the profession. Through this workshop, participants will deepen their skillset for supporting teachers through instructional mentoring and coaching. Topics to be addressed are: the communication continuum, active listening skills, trust building, and learning-focused conversations. Participants will receive resources and tools for instructional coaching and will be given opportunities to put their newly-gained skills to work through practice coaching sessions.

15. Writing and Reviewing the ACTFL/CAEP Report
Session: PM  Suite 4249
This workshop will examine the ACTFL/CAEP Report as it is written by faculty members in programs that prepare world language teachers and as it is reviewed by ACTFL reviewers. Participants who are not currently required to write their program's report will view the report components in detail, learning what constitutes a successful report leading to national recognition from ACTFL. Participants who are interested in becoming reviewers of reports will receive an introduction to program review and will gain a glimpse into how to analyze and review a submitted report in order to determine the appropriate recognition decision and provide support to the program.

101. Best of VT: Movie Talk – Ageless, Timeless, Priceless

Session: 1  Beekman

Looking for a low-prep, high-interest activity that can be used in all classes, from pre-K to adult? Movie Talk is the answer! In this session, participants will learn various approaches to Movie Talk, including how to introduce the video clip, follow-up activities, and ways to engage students throughout. MT is a captivating way to provide comprehensible input, regardless of language or level. Participants will walk away with an understanding of why MT is compelling, as well as materials, activities, and resources that will allow them to begin using MT in the classroom right away.

Reading Strategies for Everyone

Session: 1  Sutton South

Critical reading, active engagement, and interaction with texts are essential to a student's success. Faced with authentic resources, teachers need instructional tools that enhance their instruction to facilitate interpretive reading and listening growth across proficiency levels so that students can access the material. Help your students build interpretive proficiency through active reading. Throw away your highlighters and join us to learn about a variety of strategies to build better reading and listening skills!

105. Starting with Why:

Teacher Training to Spark Student Success

Session: 1  Regent

With the goal of teaching so every student can acquire language, we'll elaborate four teacher training principles. Participants take a gallery walk of training strategies posted around the room and consider in small groups how these strategies reflect the four principles. Whole group discussion will equip participants to: adapt the principles to their own needs, refer to relevant memory science and language acquisition theory, and apply specific training strategies to their own teacher training programs.

<td>Vocabulary is the key to communication. Verb conjugations and grammatical points are of no use, if the learner does not know the necessary words. Vocabulary teaching often groups topics and themes into categories. Once fruits are done, the class moves on to animals and then forgets about fruits. This presentation will illustrate how some Google tools can be used to enhance online vocabulary acquisition learning systems, such as Quizlet, Duolingo, and Lingvist to provide individualized vocabulary advancement in a high school Spanish curriculum.</td>
<td>Social-emotional learning is at its highest when students feel part of welcoming learning environments. The key to success is creating environments where students eagerly work together and are part of a strong classroom community. In this session, participants will work in teams to solve problems and explore their creativity. Then, as a group, we will debrief on how to create linguistic scaffolds for use across all proficiency levels.</td>
<td>This session will focus on the innovative design of third-year courses in Chinese, French, and Spanish at Boston University. Using an engaging theme-based approach, these courses are geared toward students interested in combining language study with pre-professional interests. Activities and assignments target communicative and cultural features of professional discourse in several areas including entrepreneurship, global health, and international relations. While each course has a distinct focus, all share similar learning outcomes and assessment criteria that emphasize interpretive, presentational, and interpersonal skills. Handouts will include syllabi, a list of suggested materials, and ideas for activities and assignments.</td>

In this session, we will explain how to implement structured input (SI) activities into the teaching of both commonly and less commonly taught languages, namely: Arabic, Mandarin Chinese, and French. We will first outline a theoretical background on SI. Then, using sample activities in the aforementioned languages, we will demonstrate how SI activities can be created to address the difficulties that select grammatical forms may pose to second language learners. Attendees will gain a general understanding of how language learners process input, and useful insights to start creating SI activities for the world languages they teach. Background on SI and prior knowledge of Arabic, Chinese, or French, are not a prerequisite.

112. Exhibitor Session: How to Learn a New Language in Fifteen Minutes
Session: 1 Gramercy West

Session participants will discover a unique approach to teaching a world language. In this dynamic and entertaining session, the presenter will discuss the key concepts of memory and the function of different areas of the brain in relation to language acquisition. The presenter will demonstrate the QTalk method which has been developed in the classroom over a period of twenty years. The foundation of the method involves substituting self-explanatory symbols for text, which produces authentic and lasting memorization of the vocabulary. Students structure complete sentences from the first lesson and attain communicative proficiency very early. Come and experience the magic of QTalk!

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Maurice Hazan and Tiffany Zhang, QTalk Publishing LLC

Intended Audience(s): PreK-12

Keyword: Instructional strategies

113. Diversity and Equal Representation in the German Curriculum: Impuls Deutsch
Session: 1 Gibson

This presentation considers diversity and equal representation of a multiplicity of voices in the German curriculum as crucial to teaching that is informed by social justice. Imparting a modern image of German-speaking countries is an integral and essential part of teaching German as a world language. We will share hands-on practices that can be implemented to make curricula and textbook materials more equitable, heterogeneous, and diverse. More specifically, we will focus on questions of representation (images, interviews, text selection) and the importance of marginalized voices, such as persons representing a range of gender expressions and identities, as well as persons of any race, ethnicity, or religious affiliation.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Niko Tracksdorf, Ph.D., University of Rhode Island, Kingston, RI
Steffen Kaupp, Ph.D., Goethe Institute, Boston, MA

114. Exhibitor Session: Culturally Inclusive Practices for the Language Classroom
Session: 1 Clinton

The language classroom is the ideal venue for inclusion, but how do we create a safe and welcoming environment that allows all learners to shine? In this interactive session, we will take on these topics: scaffolding personal and public identities, diversity vs. inclusion, non-binary language and the profile of today’s Gen Z learner. Take away practices and strategies for reaching all learners; examples in Spanish and French.

Keyword: Diversity

Examples in: Spanish and French

Language(s) spoken: English

115. Exhibitor Session: Empowering Progress: Developing Learners’ and Teachers’ Reflective Practice
Session: 1 Madison

Reflection and goal setting promote increased outcomes in any learner. Yet, teachers find it difficult to set aside time for such important practices. This session will highlight a process for reflective learning designed to cultivate teachers’ professional growth and developing their students’ reflective abilities. Participants will explore the recently-updated TELL (Teacher Effectiveness for Language Learning) Framework and LingualFolio for their capacity to practice reflection for themselves and inspire the same in their students. This exploration will involve overviews of the frameworks and a series of simulations that will highlight components of reflection and will empower participants to articulate personalized plans for incorporating reflection into their daily practice.

116. Exhibitor Session: Submarino: tu primer viaje al español
Session: 1 New York Suite, 4th Fl.

Exhibitor Exhibitor Session: In this session, the authors of the Submarine textbooks - Submarino, Submarino 1, and Submarino 2 - manuals for children who are pre-reading through ages 7–8 - will analyze the cognitive characteristics of the children of these ages to see how they learn, what skills and emotions they are able to handle, and how they can be focused in favor of learning that is internalized in a more natural and meaningful way. Once the pedagogical principles have been presented, activities specifically designed for this age group will be presented, where contextualized and meaningful learning is encouraged for children through the use of repetition, mimicry, stories, games, music, crafts and movement.

117. Digital Social Reading Projects from Elementary Level to Content-based Courses
Session: 1 East Side, 4th Fl.

The goal of this session is to share some ideas and remarks on social reading projects carried out with students of Italian in elementary, intermediate, and content-based advanced courses. The focus will mainly be on the benefits of the social aspect of reading and collaboration among peers, which is particularly beneficial for those students who have difficulties sharing ideas in public. The presenter will show how to choose the best apps and how to design activities which motivate the students and enhance their reading comprehension, their critical thinking, their ability to cooperate, and to improve in the ACTFL three modes of communication.

| Session 2 | 120. Best of NY: Check Your Privilege with Cultural Proficiency
Session: 2
Beekman
As world language teachers, we are accustomed to teaching about the 3 P’s as they relate to our target culture. But to build genuine relationships with students and to be truly effective in our teaching, we must also work towards cultural proficiency regarding our students’ diversity. In this open discussion about privilege, participants will work through a sample lesson for students while gaining awareness of what it means to be culturally proficient.

Session: 2
Sutton North
The ACTFL National Language Teacher of the Year shares effective strategies to engage and motivate students, combining language and culture to develop learners’ language performance. What makes this teacher’s learning tasks effective so learners become confident of what they can do with the language? These instructional strategies are applicable to all languages and all levels. Be inspired with new ideas and examples directly from the Teacher of the Year’s classroom.

| 122. Featured Session: We All Can Do It: Differentiation Through Backward Design
Session: 2
Sutton Center
All students deserve the opportunity to study world languages in order to prepare them for the globalized world they live in. Our students have diverse talents and needs, from heritage speakers, to those with IEPs or social-emotional challenges. How can we set shared, proficiency-focused learning goals that also meet students’ individual needs and challenge each of them appropriately? Instead of designing a unit and adding differentiation strategies in as a footnote, this session will provide strategies for using backward design to embrace the diversity of our students from the start. Participants will learn to set common thematic learning goals, and then individualize pathways, allowing for diversity and student choice in how they learn and how they show their learning.

Session: 2
Sutton South
Speaking activities support comprehension of interpretive listening and reading tasks. The Interactive Model provides a clear framework for guiding students to interpret authentic materials at all proficiency levels while maintaining the target language. Rather than viewing listening and reading as skills isolated from speaking, engaging students in speaking activities supports their interpretation of reading or listening to authentic texts. In this session, we will break down the steps of the model looking at real classroom examples.

| 124. Feedback to Push Forward: Practical Tools for Monday
Session: 2
Regent
Overwhelmed with grading and assessment? Wonder if students even read your feedback? This session leverages the work of experts like Brookhart, Glisan, Marzano, and Sandrock, and challenges participants’ views of feedback. Presenters will summarize research from leading assessment experts to ground participants’ understanding of the foundational importance of backward design, and will share and model effective feedback tools embedded in the backward design paradigm and connected to best practices. Participants will learn that feedback itself is the instructional move that has the greatest impact on improved outcomes for students and will leave with practical tools and strategies to give feedback on everything from interpersonal communication to on-demand presentational writing.

| 125. Effective Online Assignments Assessment Through Instant and Delayed Feedback
Session: 2
Bryant
In this session, presenters will explore multiple facets of assessment. The first speaker will introduce the general curriculum innovation background and our research rationale. The second speaker will talk about the task design from the instructor’s perspectives. The third speaker will discuss the effectiveness of comprehension-type assessment activities by analyzing time spent, frequency of access, frequency of submission, grammatical errors, typos, and current score. The fourth speaker will show students’ perceptions of various assessment strategies, with the intent of determining which strategies students find most engaging and meaningful. The survey results will be shared. The fifth speaker will talk about the implications of practice and how to apply the recommendations for future Chinese language teaching assessment.

126. Fostering Inclusive Classroom and Departmental Environments for LGBTQIA+ Learners

Session: 2 Nassau East

This session addresses the challenges that LGBTQIA+ people face when learning a new language and culture. How does a non-binary person navigate a language without “official” gender-neutral conventions? How can we work together to foster a more inclusive learning environment? Following an overview of practices, conversations, and goals we have pursued on our own campus, the facilitators will use examples in German to present small changes instructors can make that create a more inclusive environment and provide a space to practice the language associated with these ideas. Particular attention will be given to pronouns, questions of intercultural competence, and topics like family and friends. Finally, we will provide participants with a chance to ask questions and exchange perspectives.

127. Using Music and Magic To Engage All In Learning Languages

Session: 2 Nassau West

Singing songs and performing magic shows in the classroom have often been underused, or entirely overlooked, as effective and strategic activities that would appeal to, entertain and engage all students, engage their emotions, pique their interest and curiosity, and provide contextually meaningful comprehensible input, all of which then ultimately lead to increased language proficiency outcomes. Come experience and participate in using and leveraging music, singing songs and performing magic tricks in ways rarely considered for the classroom, and receive culturally authentic resources and strategies to use the next day in your classroom!

128. A Content-integrated Approach to Language Learning

Session: 2 Murray Hill East

The best way to get world language to all learners is to integrate it across the curriculum. Studies show that bilingual content instruction improves outcomes for English Language Learners with respect to both content and English acquisition. Why not apply this approach to world language? This session will provide a roadmap to high-quality collaboration with teachers of other content areas that will promote interaction among students, use the four domains of language, and introduce students to multiple forms of discourse.

129. Homework in World Languages: Using Research to Overcome the Controversy

Session: 2 Murray Hill West

Homework is an educational topic fraught with controversy. From a research standpoint, it is clear that homework is simply an instructional strategy that can either be deployed effectively or ineffectively. Current research on homework in world languages provides an empirical basis from which to design and use this instructional strategy. Research on learning and memory provide the impetus for considering homework in world languages an indispensable tool for teachers. This session is a best-and-worst-practices brush-up that will settle some of the controversy. Using homework carefully is a powerful approach if used in line with research and the rationale is communicated with families and others in the educational community.

31. Exhibitor Session: Let's Get Real: Authentic Assessments with IPAs
Session: 2 Gramercy West

Authentic resources engage students by offering insights into the products, practices, and perspectives of an entire world of people who use the target language in their real-world everyday lives. Let's make learning come alive by using these resources to create IPAs that allow students to demonstrate their proficiency in real-life situations. Teachers will practice with EMC-designed IPAs and will also learn how to design their own standards-based IPAs using authentic resources.

32. Exhibitor Session: Project-based Learning (PBL) in Spanish Language Teaching
Session: 2 Gibson

Project-based learning (PBL) is a methodology for acquiring knowledge and skills through projects. It answers students' concerns through a series of strategies and tools, making them more competent with its practical and interactive activities. In Spanish language classes, project-based learning stimulates students' emotional, intellectual, and personal growth through direct experiences with other cultures in a context of linguistic immersion. It also offers them the possibility of incorporating intercultural thinking strategies in order to build bridges between different cultural groups. This session will present examples of Enforex and don Quijote projects for both young learners and adults, some guidelines for PBL implementation, and the starting of a corpus of possible projects.

33. Exhibitor Session: National Spanish Examinations and Assessments
Session: 2 Clinton

This session will focus on the content and administration of the National Spanish Assessments (NSA) and National Spanish Examinations (NSE), the most widely used standardized tests of Spanish in the US. The presenter will discuss exam content, how the NSE and NSA measure both proficiency and achievement based on content and performance standards, online test administration procedures, and how the exams can be used as formative and summative assessments. Participants will be introduced to the many scholarships, study abroad opportunities, and awards available for both students and teachers.

34. Exhibitor Session: Exploring Language and Culture with Google Earth
Session: 2 Madison

You may be familiar with many of the great educational features of Google Earth. In this session, we will look at practical and fun ways you can use Google Earth to incorporate research, writing, and technology skills into your world language and TESOL instruction. Google Earth can also be a powerful tool for encouraging your students to think about cultural competence and perspective. Help your students prepare for their upcoming trip, reflect on their past travels, or explore the world from the classroom by creating annotated tours with Google Tour Builder. Share a lesson with your students that uses Google Earth to inspire thinking across all disciplines to uncover evidence, draw conclusions, and answer questions with solid reasoning.

Friday, February 14, Session 2, 11:30 a.m.–12:30 p.m.
In this session, the presenter will describe and unpack a survey that students took after completing a semester-long telecollaboration. The survey includes questions that help us learn about the partnership from the students’ perspective. The presentation examines the results obtained from mapping students’ oral performance throughout the semester, looking specifically at vocabulary usage, length of conversation, and sentence complexity. Additionally, the presenter seeks to find evidence that prove the effectiveness of using these telecollaborative conversations as means to offer differentiated instruction. The survey and the analysis of the students’ oral performance help shed light on the outcome of this practice and may also be helpful in guiding future practices.

140. Best of MA: But What About the Grammar?

Session: 3  Beckman

As proficiency-based teaching becomes more popular, we are still left with the question of what to do with grammar. Join us for this session where we’ll explore different communicative strategies to teach grammar as a concept. We’ll explore methods like the PACE Model, Structured Input and Discovery Grammar as ways to “teach” grammar but in a meaningful and less explicit way. During this session we will unpack the ACTFL Core Practice of Grammar in Context and present real examples of grammar in context that you can use in your own classrooms.

141. Embracing Learning Differences in the Foreign Language Classroom

Session: 3  Sutton North

In order to make world language learning accessible to all types of students/learners, this presentation aims to share personalized multi-sensory approaches to reach students with dyslexia, auditory processing disorder, and short-term memory retention. This experience will provide the teachers with an inside view of the struggles that students experience in the classroom and aims to generate empathy for better emotional support of these learners. This presentation is based on the research of Orton Gillingham's framework for language processing disorder. This author's method will be applied in the foreign language classrooms from beginning to advanced levels. The presentation will also provide kinesthetic activities that students can use inside and outside of the school learning environment.

143. Learning Spanish Through Culturally Thematic Units: El Camino de Santiago

Session: 3  Sutton South

A language can not be separated from its culture. For this reason, we have created a six-week unit that takes students through the practices, products, and perspectives of the Camino de Santiago in Spain. This unit full of interpersonal, interpretive and presentational activities is geared to intermediate-level Spanish language learners. Attendees will learn how to engage all students through a thematic unit that includes a range of topics including: the history of the Camino, what to bring, advice for future pilgrims, and more. Attendees will walk away with a variety of resources to use in the classroom.

145. Creating a Positive Classroom Environment Through Student Reflection

Session: 3  Bryant

To effectively manage a classroom, teachers must prioritize building positive, compassionate classroom communities that engage learners. This session will provide information on guiding classroom communities, minimizing disruptions, and developing class routines to help students stay engaged and focused on learning. The presenters will explore ways to hone students’ linguistic skills such as listening, cultural sensitivity, and humor in order to build rapport and provide all students with opportunities for learning. Presenters will use a PowerPoint presentation, demonstration techniques, and videos of actual Chinese classes to engage the audience in understanding how to implement an emotionally positive classroom environment.

Descriptions of All Workshops and Sessions

146. Launching a Learner-active World Language Classroom
Session: 3  Nassau East

In today’s classrooms, student motivation and engagement play a crucial role in the effective acquisition of a second language. Research shows that our learners benefit greatly from differentiated, student-centered practice, but what does this look like in a world language classroom? This workshop will provide you with the framework you need to create authentic problem-based tasks for your units resulting in a more meaningful world language experience. The approach is a balance between information about tools to support a "student-centered" mindset, and some workshop time to get acquainted with student-centered strategies such as small group lessons, activity menus, learning centers, and facilitation tools to monitor the progress of your students.

147. Meeting the Needs of Spanish Heritage Speakers
Session: 3  Nassau West

This session presents the process of developing and articulating a program for Spanish for heritage speakers at the high school level. The presentation describes the rationale, design, and implementation of AP-aligned units of instruction across three levels, with an overview of classroom-tested themes, projects, assessments, and feedback strategies. The presenters will demonstrate how their students’ specific needs and assets were the driving forces to develop curriculum and instruction that promote literacy skills and cultural heritage knowledge.

Organizer/Presenters:
Carmen Crisóstomo-Lenz,
Danbury Public Schools, Danbury, CT
Patricia Claa,
Danbury Public Schools, Danbury, CT

Intended Audience(s): Secondary (6-12)

148. For Real? Making our Classrooms Truly Communicative
Session: 3  Murray Hill East

Do your learners discover new things about themselves and one another in your classes? Are you learning along with them? Is real communication your classroom reality? Come explore ways of putting authenticity at the core of your class through use of texts and tasks that make students reflect and want to talk. If what you’re saying is real, they will! Attendees will engage in sample activities and tasks that can be modified for all levels.

149. What’s APPening?
Session: 3  Murray Hill West

Looking for new tech tools to help your WL learners of multiple levels across multiple languages? We will be exploring and highlighting several websites and mobile applications that supplement WL learning. The sites and apps used are: LingoDeer, Memrise, HelloTalk, Babbel, Mosalingua, and Flipgrid. We will share classroom application use for these tools and examples of student work. Though examples are from high school classes, most tools are appropriate for middle school as well.

150. Using Digital Proficiency Portfolios to Track Growth
Session: 3  Gramercy East

Portfolios are powerful tools to demonstrate learning to all stakeholders. In this session, participants will see examples of proficiency portfolios, discuss how to use ACTFL’s proficiency guidelines in order to create open-ended prompts for each level, and analyze effective feedback systems that involve students in the process. Also, learn how to guide students through self-assessment and reflection in order to set proficiency goals.

151. Exhibitor Session: Differentiated Instruction in a Multi-leveled Classroom
Session: 3  Gramercy West

How do we take into account different learners' levels in our classrooms? How do we engage groups of students in meaningful tasks when their individual linguistic needs are different? How do we introduce student-centered instruction in a collaborative environment? This presentation offers varied insights and ideas on how to use differentiated instruction during collaborative, complex, and meaningful pedagogical tasks in multi-level classrooms.

Organizer/Presenters:
Lorianne Morache, AQEFLE, Québec

Intended Audience(s): Post-secondary
Keyword: Instructional strategies
Examples in: French
Language(s) spoken: English and French

152. Exhibitor Session: Linguascope.com – Helping Schools Deliver their Language Curriculum
Session: 3  Gibson

Linguascope is an award-winning website offering interactive resources in French, Spanish, German, Italian, Portuguese, Mandarin Chinese, Arabic, Russian, Polish, Welsh, Scottish Gaelic, Maori, and English to match curriculum requirements. The content ranges from elementary to intermediate level (6 to 16 years old). Organized in topic areas, the materials are presented via a host of immersive multimedia activities. Teachers can also create their own resources as well as access a range of ready-made content. In the United-Kingdom, 80% of the schools subscribe to Linguascope, with 99% renewing after their first year. Come and discover why so many teachers view Linguascope as an indispensable tool... and what you have been missing!

153. Exhibitor Session: Teaching and Promoting French in the 21st Century

Head to the south of France, discover the Occitan region through the construction site of Paul Riquet. At the time it was in competition with Versailles and was the revolution of the 17th century! The Canal du Midi is one of the oldest canals in Europe still in operation. Since 1996, it has been included on the UNESCO World Heritage List. Take the time to travel with us and maybe we will find ourselves in southern France: specifically, in Languedoc, on the Mediterranean side of the Occitan region!

154. Exhibitor Session: Teaching and Promoting French in the 21st Century

Learn how the AATF is positioning itself for the 21st century with new materials, new projects, and new services for members. These include four new publications on IPAs, cinema, legends, and Martinique, a brand new website linked to social media and online advertising, new French standards, and upcoming conventions in Trois-Rivières, Québec, in New Orleans, France, and San Diego. Participants will receive sample materials, a tour of the online resources, and ideas for how to integrate these resources in the classroom.

155. Mixed-language Living-learning Communities: Empowering Student-driven Intercultural Learning

This session will present a model for a scalable mixed-language residential living-learning community designed to build both linguistic and intercultural communicative competence through student-led community cultural programming, peer-to-peer cultural presentations, and informal student interactions across proficiency levels and languages. Students of varying levels (intermediate to native speaker) leverage their prior knowledge, personal experiences and interests, and instructor-scaffolded independent research to collectively identify and analyze cultural products and practices and to compare linguistic structures across languages. Students demonstrate their growing cultural competency through culturally appropriate student-led community events related to a central theme.

156. Italian as a Second Language and Improvisational Theatre: New Strategies

This session will introduce a special course developed at La Scuola d’Italia Guglielmo Marconi, in New York City. Language learning/teaching and acting training share constructs and practices - both of them experiment with language and point at achieving effective communication. The target of our workshop are students from 6th to 8th grade with an elementary linguistic competence, some learning differences and disabilities, and tendencies to develop passive bilingualism. Activities in the workshop do not consist of plays in a foreign language to promote language learning, but rather focus mostly on improvisational exercises. The workshop will showcase some of the activities developed during the current scholastic year and the benefits observed throughout our classes.

157. Games and Brain Breaks to Keep the Class Moving

Are you looking for authentic activities to improve student engagement? Do these activities promote speaking in the target language? The use of a student-centered approach can be the answer. Learn strategies and games to implement in your classroom, and how these strategies align with the ACTFL standards. The session will begin with a think-pair-share activity to encourage participants to activate their knowledge and will provide examples of activities they can use to implement a student-centered approach. We will demonstrate several techniques by encouraging teachers to participate in games and brain breaks.

<td>Stations are an effective way to promote differentiation and proficiency in a world language classroom because they provide multiple avenues to engage students and connect with their varied interests and proficiency. In this session, we will discuss goals, station types, and organization. Participants will learn how to choose materials and design meaningful tasks. We will look at the role of the teacher during stations and how to hold students accountable for the work that is produced. Participants will receive detailed materials for use in a Spanish 1 classroom.&lt;br&gt;&lt;br&gt;Organizer/Presenter(s):&lt;br&gt;Trudy Anderson,&lt;br&gt;Nathan Hale School, New Haven, CT</td>
<td>How do we ensure that all students are able to successfully “cross the bridge” from input to output? Checking for understanding and using formative assessments in all modes is key to supporting student gains in proficiency. Participants will receive a variety of formative assessments to be used with novice and intermediate learners in different units and contexts. These tools allow teachers to provide timely feedback ensuring that learners move from comprehensible input to comprehensible output. Formative assessments allow learners to engage in self-reflection and teachers to modify instruction. This is a partner-session to Jessica Haxhi’s presentation “Building the Bridge to Output with Scaffolding for All Learners.” Attendance at both is not required, but encouraged to make connections.&lt;br&gt;&lt;br&gt;Organizer/Presenter(s):&lt;br&gt;Lea Graner Kennedy,&lt;br&gt;Stonington High School, Stonington, CT</td>
<td>Get your students engaged and using real language in real-life situations. In this session, presenters will showcase a variety of apps, activities, and ideas to bring authentic materials into the classroom to make learning more real and enjoyable for students while building their interpretive skills. Our presenters are experienced teachers of Spanish, French, Italian, and Chinese; they will demonstrate how different types of authentic resources can be adapted to different levels in middle and high schools. Ample time will be given for the participants to ask questions and to discuss ways to tweak the activities for their own students. Handouts and sources of activities and authentic resources will be provided.&lt;br&gt;&lt;br&gt;Organizer/Presenter(s):&lt;br&gt;Lucy Lee,&lt;br&gt;Carolyn Sanchez,&lt;br&gt;Soukeyna Diop-Tall,&lt;br&gt;Livingston High School, Livingston, NJ</td>

166. The Look of Language: Visual Literacy and Immersion Language Teaching

Session: 4  Nassau East

What is visual literacy and what role does it play in the globally-focused, immersion classroom? This session places the image as the anchor for interpretive and interpersonal communication in the learner-centered classroom. Visual literacy is a 21st century skill, which engages all learners in our classrooms. How can the image lead to the word? Join us and explore varied curricular pieces at the novice through intermediate levels of proficiency. Discuss our lesson design and learn about how we integrate this into current curricula.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Christopher Gwin, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia

167. Utilizing Comprehensible Input for An Inclusive Classroom

Session: 4  Nassau West

Through using comprehensible input strategies, we can create a classroom environment where all students can learn. This presentation will review tools that will help to facilitate student learning while using comprehensible input strategies. Participants will engage in using language skills such as interpretive listening with short stories and movie talks, creating word walls to scaffold vocabulary, doing special person interviews in interpersonal and presentational mode, and how to create effective pop up grammar lessons in context. Participants will come away with a wide variety of activities that will engage and encourage students to be excited about language learning through all levels. Participants should come prepared to learn, participate, and have fun!

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Maureen Lamb, Kingswood Oxford School, W. Hartford, CT

Intended Audience(s): PreK-16+ (all)

Keyword: Instructional strategies

Examples in: English, Latin, and Ancient Greek

Language(s) spoken: English and Latin

168. Creating Classrooms for Equity and Social Justice

Session: 4  Murray Hill East

During this session, the presenter will explore gender equity in Spanish-speaking countries. The participants will reflect upon social justice issues and engage in activities that will promote a more equitable society while increasing language and cultural proficiency. Language learners will also make connections across disciplines and develop 21st century skills. Social justice is a value that should be integrated into the curriculum as it helps work toward building a society that celebrates diversity and equality. Learning about gender equity supports the idea that individuals, regardless of their gender, have equal access to resources, and receive equitable treatment.

169. Unpack that Image

Session: 4  Murray Hill West

Graduate from consumer to critic by learning about principles of design, composition, and visual weight in order to understand why certain images are more powerful than others. Discover how our brain processes logos, photos, posters and other illustrations. Then apply this information to a variety of images including the photographs of Graciela Iturbide and of stills and posters of well-known movies. Consider how this information may be used by students to visually represent their understanding of texts and films, thereby allowing for a deeper analysis and critique. And finally, use images as a springboard for intercultural learning and visual literacy.

170. Approche à l'apprentissage linguistique basée sur l'histoire d'"Un Village français"

Session: 4  Gramercy East

In this session, we present an intermediate French course that integrates the French television series "Un Village français." In this course, students gain proficiency through engaging target language communication and critical thinking that encourages 21st century skills. The course implements a story-based approach that facilitates understanding and promotes extended discourse, helping teach students about France during WW II and the Shoah.

171. Exhibitor Session: Get the REAL LANGUAGE right away

Session: 4  Murray Hill West

It is never too early to get students speaking in the target language! This will be a collaborative session; participants will discuss their challenges and successes in fostering interpersonal communication with young learners. Participants will also explore creating a safe place for students to interact in the target language. Come away with ideas for setting up engaging partner activities that are adaptable to any unit and will allow students to practice language in a meaningful context. These activities will put students on the pathway to ownership of targeted vocabulary, structures, and useful expressions.

172. Exhibitor Session: Teaching the Multitudes: Making Resources Work for All Levels
Session: 4  Gibson

As teachers, we’re used to working miracles and doing a lot with limited resources. Whether we are stretching our time, our money, or our resources, we have to make the most of what we have. During this session, the presenter will discuss the core practice of using authentic resources, how to find them, and how to differentiate tasks so that your resources are comprehensible and meaningful for various levels of students.

174. Exhibitor Session: Creating Connections Through Children’s Literature
Session: 4  Madison

Reading is one of the most important learning tools at our disposal. It can transport us to another world, allow us to become another for a brief moment, fire up the imagination and creativity, bring wonder and, most importantly of all, ask questions. As an authentic resource, add to this the exposure to language structures, vocabulary and culture that allows for comparisons and connections to be made and discussed. In this session explore how to select appropriate reading material that supports your methodologies, learning objectives, and unit themes. Explore various cross-discipline activities based on the literature selection and finally, gain some strategies to adapt an authentic literature selection to the level of your students.

177. More Than a Task, Less Than a Project?
Session: 4  Lincoln Suite, 4th Fl.

Language learners today tend to thrive when given an opportunity to be creative doing authentic and meaningful work. This session will specifically discuss how we can design and implement a smaller scale project that optimally realizes the Project-Based Learning (PBL) approach in daily language classrooms, which is more than a task, but less than a project. The presenters will provide concrete examples of such simplified projects used in Korean language classrooms. In addition, they will share specific guidelines as well as insightful strategies to meet potential challenges involved and discuss how these projects can be adapted to each different proficiency level.

| 180. Best of GWATFL: Visible Thinking Routines in Language Classrooms |
| Session: 5 Beekman |
| In this session, the presenter shows hands-on examples of how she utilizes the Visible Thinking Routines to provoke students' thinking while they speak, listen, read, and write in Mandarin. The presenter didn't only limit the use of Visible Thinking Routines in classrooms but also utilized them as a means of parent outreach and in other projects! The goal is that you can immediately use these strategies as soon as you go back to your classroom, no matter what language you teach! |

| Session: 5 Sutton Center |
| How do we ensure that all students are able to successfully “cross the bridge” from input to output with success? Utilize scaffolds targeted to all of the proficiency levels in your classes, or even in one classroom. Participants in this workshop will explore 4 key scaffolding strategies for both novice and intermediate learners: the use of visuals, sentence starters, differentiated questioning, and graphic organizers. This is a partner-session to Lea Graner Kennedy’s session “Building the Bridge to Output with Formative Assessments for all Learners.” Attendance at both is not required, but is encouraged to build connections to the concept of the “bridge.” |

| 185. Multiple Perspectives on Passing the World Language edTPA |
| Session: 5 Bryant |
| edTPA is used for teacher certification purposes across 40 states. It has not only posed a tremendous challenge for student teachers, but also for world language methods instructors, student teacher supervisors, and cooperating teachers. This session presents multiple actors’ perspectives on what it takes to be successful on the edTPA. It will describe the adjustments made in the academic program and supporting assessments, exemplars of edTPA portfolios, and supervisor and cooperating teacher’s support and needs. |

192. Exhibitor Session: AATG Networking Session for German Teachers

Session: 5  Gibson

Working in isolation is one of the greatest challenges German teachers face. This networking session will focus on strategies for growing and promoting the German program, addressing instructional issues, and developing mentoring networks. We’ll also be discussing strategies to avert German teacher shortages, must-includes in a quick advocacy speech, and upcoming professional development opportunities.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Keith Cothrun, American Association of Teachers of German
Erika Berroth, Southwestern University, Georgetown, TX

Intended Audience(s): PreK-16+ (all)
Keyword: Professional development
Examples in: German
Language(s) spoken: English

193. Accessing Authentic Resources: 18 Strategies That Go Beyond Questioning

Session: 5  Clinton

There are so many ways learners can show their comprehension and expand on what they have learned. In and of themselves, authentic resources are highly motivating since they expose learners to everyday use of the target language, make intercultural connections, and bring authenticity into the classroom. But that motivation needs to be maintained through relevance, challenge, and fun! In this session, the presenter will share 18 strategies for supporting learners with comprehension of authentic texts and application of their language skills in meaningful, follow-up tasks.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Deborah Espitia, Howard County Public Schools, retired, MD

Intended Audience(s): Secondary (6-12)
Keyword: Instructional strategies
Examples in: Spanish and French
Language(s) spoken: English

194. Exhibitor Session: 3 Keys to Unlocking a Novel

Session: 5  Madison

Teaching with a graded reader is amazing for creating limitless opportunities for communication. Through the implementation of novels, teachers can capitalize on the cultural information, teach content, foster global citizenship, and develop proficiency. This session will focus on three strategies—dramatization, personalization, and using realia—that will help teachers to engage students while providing rich, communicatively embedded input.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Craig Sheehy, TPRS Books

Intended Audience(s): High School
Keyword: Instructional strategies
Examples in: Spanish, French, and German
Language(s) spoken: English

195. Junior High School: Starting the Path to Biliteracy

Session: 5  New York Suite, 4th Fl.

In this session, presenters will share instructional strategies that have motivated junior high school students to develop their literacy skills in the first year of Korean language class. Various learning activities will be presented through examples of hands-on activities and/or audio and video uploads on Google Classroom. Participants will get some ideas on how to make the most out of the Workshop Model that is aligned with the three modes of ACTFL performance indicators and how to successfully incorporate assessment into the workshop model in order to enhance student motivation, accessibility, and total engagement.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Hyunjoo Kwon, Ed.D., NYS LANGUAGE RBERN @NYU, New York, NY
Jounghye Rhi, East-West School of International Studies, Flushing, NY

Intended Audience(s): Middle School
Keyword: Instructional strategies

196. Italian is Cool

Session: 5  East Suite, 4th Fl.

This session will focus on grants, scholarships, professional development, and summer programs opportunities available for K-12 students and teachers sponsored by the Italian American Committee on Education (IACE), Calandra Institute, and La Scuola d’Italia Guglielmo Marconi. Join us to learn how to apply for grants for Italian curricular courses (teachers’ salary and teaching materials). The presenters will also explore study abroad program opportunities in Italy, field trips to major “Made in Italy” businesses in the New York City area, as well as professional development workshops, offering ideas for creative approaches to teaching Italian in various settings. Italian is cool!

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Luigi Ballerini, Berardo Paradiso, IACE, New York, NY
Maria Palandrini, La Scuola d’Italia NY, New York, NY
Anthony Tamburri, Ph.D., Calandra Institute

Intended Audience(s): PreK-16+ (all)

197. One Size Doesn’t Fit All: Developing Curricula to Embrace Diversity

Session: 5  Lincoln Suite, 4th Fl.

Teaching less commonly taught languages can be challenging due to the lack of standards-based teaching materials. Consequently, teachers need to develop effective curricula from the ground up and adapt pedagogical practices. This presentation will demonstrate how a Portuguese intermediate level course was redesigned using principles of Backward Design, ACTFL’s 5Cs, and Integrated Performance Assessments in order to address the linguistic and cultural diversity of heritage speakers from various Portuguese-speaking countries and those, whose native language is Spanish.

<td>Learners come with a variety of preferences, challenges, and strengths. While differentiated teaching is generally accepted, common classroom strategies and assignments often create barriers, e.g. for students with processing difficulties (speech or visual). This presentation examines examples of popular activities and features of language courses for their inherent assumptions about abilities and presents redesigns (e.g. alternate oral presentation formats and visually accessible materials) which allow individual students to demonstrate their abilities in the target language in more flexible ways. Examples will provide a springboard for discussion about various strategies for moving language teaching practice in the direction of more Universal Design for Learning.</td>

212. Exhibitor Session: Cultural Games for the Spanish Classroom

Session: 6  Location: Gramercy West

Presenters will introduce and demonstrate various original games for the Spanish classroom, highlighting a Day of the Dead board game that takes the students on a trip to the ‘mercado’ to purchase the items for their Day of the Dead celebration. The presenters will also demonstrate escape-room type games with a cultural focus where students will work together to solve riddles and discover clues that will enable them to open a variety of locks in order to gain access to a prize. All games were designed and created by the presenters and used in their classrooms.

213. Exhibitor Session: Comprehensible Novels as the Basis for Instruction: Yes, Really!

Session: 6  Location: Gibson

Don’t let the word “novel” cause any stress! Using a book that is written for students in language that they can understand is not only easy, it is a whole lot of fun! In this hour, Jennifer Degenhardt and Alicia Quintero, authors of several comprehensible novels in Spanish, French and English, will share with participants how a compelling novel can act as the springboard for just about everything that teachers want to provide for their students: great vocabulary, grammar in context, culture, history, social issues and more. Come ready to dig in with the author and college-level Spanish teacher as she helps you create activities that you can use—even with short stories—immediately!

214. Exhibitor Session: From Authentic Resources to Authentic Assessments

Session: 6  Location: Clinton

The use of authentic resources provides opportunities to connect learners to both the language and the cultures under study. Such materials offer a window into the everyday lives of people who speak the target language; and as a result, encourage learners to engage in authentic interpretive, interpersonal, and presentational tasks that can provide formative or summative feedback on their performance. This session examines different kinds of authentic resources available along with a variety of task-types which lend themselves to authentic assessment tasks.

215. Exhibitor Session: Engaging All Spanish Learners: Personalized, Task-based and CALL Learning Projects

Session: 6  Location: Madison

How can we better engage all of our Spanish students? Recent graduates from SOU's Summer Language Institute (MA in Spanish Language Teaching program) in Guanajuato, Mexico, share the results of their action research projects, conducted in three different high schools. The first project investigated the effects of personalized learning on students' engagement and achievement in high school Spanish. The second project studied how to best serve receptive bilinguals, who do not have the speaking or writing skills to be placed into an advanced level of language, and found that task-based language teaching helped these students while still meeting the needs of the novice L2 learner. The third project examined the use of speaking activities using Flipgrid for heritage language learners.

216. Foreign Language Advocacy and the Opportunity to Learn Another Language

Session: 6  Location: New York Suite, 4th Fl.

Foreign language proficiency and cultural knowledge are essential skills both globally and locally, but many US students do not have the opportunity to learn another language. Advocacy can help to increase opportunity and to empower learners, both personally and professionally. Foreign language advocacy is for everyone—for foreign language educators, for foreign language stakeholders in business and government, and for parents and communities. It is a broad umbrella, with room for many voices and many skills. If we work together through our professional associations at all levels, with language stakeholders, and most importantly, with parents and communities, all learners can have the opportunity to learn another language.

220. Best of NJ: Let’s Talk Tech!

Session: 7
Beekman

Are you looking for exciting technology-based tools to engage your students in the world language classroom? Join us as we explore various technology platforms that motivate students to use the target language. Our workshop will focus on using Padlet, Plickers, and Google Glasses to help foster communication, collaboration, and critical thinking in language learners. Please bring your personal device as you will participate in various hands-on activities, as well as be provided time for exploration. We look forward to sharing ways you can use tech tools to positively impact your students.

221. Teaching World Languages to Learners with Learning Differences

Session: 7
Sutton North

This session explains how to provide language learning opportunities for every learner, especially for students with learning disabilities. We'll discuss articulated performance assessment tasks and three modes for the inclusive class. The presenters will demonstrate how to align the world language teaching strategies with modes and other features to design the lesson for all learners with different needs. The presenters will share their experience of designing and implementing their performance assessment tasks. You will see how to design an effective lesson using three modes and Backward Design.

224. Welcome to the Living Museum: Come Discover Contemporary Hispanic Heroes

Session: 7 Regent

This session will provide you with the tools to organize your own living museum. Designed for intermediate level Spanish students in a college setting, this event can be adapted. The presenter will share five years of experience organizing this event. Students select a highly accomplished contemporary Hispanic figure from a teacher-approved list touting names like Pope Francis and Sonia Sotomayor. Students then move on to complete components involving research, writing, presenting and listening. After a month of preparation, students present a brief summary of the accomplishments of their figure at the living museum event. The living museum is a community event where museum visitors listen to 75 Spanish speakers and discover new Hispanic heroes. Clips of the event will be included.

225. Authentic World Language Connections Through Culture, Experiences and Freedom of Choice

Session: 7 Bryant

In this presentation, world language educators will explore their diverse classroom populations and begin to formulate ways to infuse the target language culture and the represented cultures within their academic pursuits. The goal is to increase student engagement through understanding and providing a sense of authentic connection to the content. Student representation is a key factor in retention, compassion, and investment – let us see our students shine in the TL by providing ways to showcase who and what they represent!

226. Language for All: Teaching Graffiti for Intercultural Literacy

Session: 7 Nassau East

As authentic manifestations of contemporary language in socio-cultural contexts, graffiti mark territory, include or exclude people, create ever-changing cultural discourse, and reveal social conflicts. Because texts are short, they can be used at all levels. The rebellious nature of graffiti fascinates students as they analyze culturally specific intent and message. This session presents examples in Hebrew and German to address the following: a) What are some themes and how do they reflect Israeli or German culture and issues of social justice? b) How can students make connections while examining cultural products, practices, and perspectives? c) What are effective graffiti-based activities? d) How can analyzing graffiti promote equity, empathy, inclusivity, and interculturality?

227. #SoyMigrante: Incorporating Intersectional Immigrant Stories in a Foreign Language Classroom

Session: 7 Nassau West

In these difficult times for immigrants in the United States and in many places worldwide, it is critical to start creating more dialogues and safe spaces for students to learn about the intersectional stories of immigrants in the foreign language classroom. These stories can set a tone to revise and to see where in our curriculum do we want to incorporate these topics. By using some implicit grammar techniques and unique speaking/writing prompts, teachers can create some unique opportunities to not only "set goals and reflect on their progress in using languages for enjoyment, enrichment, and advancement," but also, for helping our students to develop empathy and better understanding of the immigrants here in the U.S. and beyond.

228. Promoting Student Engagement with Digital Journals in Foreign Language Courses

Session: 7 Murray Hill East

This presentation introduces the implementation of digital journals as a tool to foster language learners’ agency and creativity. Digital Journals are mediated texts in which students put into practice cultural and linguistic features in their own unique ways. These presentational projects maximize students’ engagement and develop linguistic and cultural knowledge. After introducing the pedagogical framework ‘Learning by Design’ in which this project is grounded, presenters will discuss the objectives and assessment materials used, and will demonstrate how digital journals are integrated into the syllabus. Finally, based on examples of teaching sequences and student work, participants will discuss the ways they could implement digital journals in their own language teaching contexts.

229. Using Differentiated Instruction to Create a Personalized Learning Experience

Session: 7 Murray Hill West

The strategies of differentiated instruction allow educators to create a personalized experience for their students in the world language classroom. The presenter will share strategies for differentiating content, process, and product using the research of Carol Ann Tomlinson and her team. Through learning how to differentiate, teachers will be able to create proficiency-oriented tasks and assessments to meet the readiness levels of all learners.

230. Tutoring, Retakes, and Redemption: Helping Struggling Students to Succeed
Session: 7
Gramercy East
Some students require additional support outside of class. This may be to help them build confidence before an assessment, or it may be to help them recover after a less than stellar performance. In this session, we will look at how we spend our time with our students outside of regular class time, how we can help them recover from disappointing experiences, and how we can put struggling students on a path to success.

232. Goethe-Institut Full-Immersion Coaching Program
Session: 7
Gibson
This presentation focuses on the Goethe-Institut’s coaching program, a full-immersion and process-oriented professional development training developed to empower teachers of German to make long-term and autonomous improvements to their instruction. We will present the free-of-charge comprehensive on-line and in-person training for coaches at the Goethe-Institut NY, which is open to all qualified teachers of German across the US. Additionally, we will focus on methodology and pedagogy of the three-step coaching process in which coach and coachee work together to reflect on and improve lesson planning and implementation.

234. Stories, Robots, and Coding
Session: 7
New York Suite, 4th Fl.
Robots have inspired our first-graders to solve problems together while simultaneously learning the basics of coding. They add a visual-kinesthetic element to stories that engage all learners. Come experience storytelling robotics firsthand and collaborate with others to discuss further applications of storytelling and coding, including tech-free activities.

235. Excite the School with World Language Lip Dubs & Flash Mobs
Session: 7
East Suite, 4th Fl.
In this fun, music-filled session, the presenter will share how to organize and successfully execute world language-themed lip dubs and flash mobs. For world language lip dubs, students write lyrics in the target language to accompany the tunes of popular songs, and then the entire school dances and lip-syncs the song as a camera moves through the throngs of enthusiastic, costume-clad people. Think this is “too much to plan”? This session will show you everything you need to know. Nothing gets an entire community more mobilized and excited about languages than a lip dub or a flash mob!

Thinking ahead to lunch?
Meals are not provided with the hotel room rate or conference registration fees. Each day, the schedule has a longer break for lunch and visiting the exhibit hall. There are countless options for lunch within walking distance of the conference hotel. Among them:
- Herb N’ Kitchen (lobby, ask about breakfast and lunch special offers)
- Café 53 on W. 53rd
- Halal Guys stand on the corner of 53rd and 6th
- Starbucks across the street on 6th Avenue,
- Klein and Co. on 6th Ave between 55th and 56th
- Chipotle at 6th Ave. and 56th

231. #techlab

Session: 7

NECTFL #techlab consists of tables led by tech experts, similar to a tech fair. Attendees will come to this session, but instead of sitting down and learning from one presenter only, they will have the opportunity to learn ‘à la carte’ from several world language educators with expertise in instructional technology. Participants may stay as long as they like with one presenter or browse the tables at their own pace. Please bring a laptop, a tablet, or a mobile device (Wi-Fi not included) and walk away with a new app or with an innovative tech-infused lesson for your students. All languages and tech skill levels are welcome!

231. Table 1. Engaging Language Lessons with Pear Deck

Session: 7

Gramercy West

Pear Deck is an exceptionally engaging educational technology software that seamlessly blends presentation and informal formative assessment. Teachers can easily design presentations in which they simultaneously provide direct instruction and check for student comprehension. Pear Deck also supplies templates for warm ups, closures, and critical thinking, all of which comprise a full package of interactive learning. Teachers can use Pear Deck for a host of language lessons, from cultural content to new grammatical concepts, all of which are performed. Games can be run for a specific amount of time with students attempting to earn as much money as possible in the given time frame, which serves to reinforce material and improve concepts or vocabulary being studied.

231. Table 3. Gimkit: Engaging and Motivating Assessment

Session: 7

Gramercy West

Gimkit is an online assessment tool which can be used for formative or summative work in the world language classroom. Gimkit allows teachers to create quizzes that are then played live or assigned as homework, and students will be able to play the game and earn cash simultaneously. Students are engaged in the process, realizing they can earn cash that can then be used to ‘buy’ items in a teacher (or class) designed store. Students and teachers can keep track of funds earned. Teachers can use accuracy scores to grade students for work being performed. Games can be run for a specific amount of time with students attempting to earn as much money as possible in the given time frame, which serves to reinforce material and improve concepts or vocabulary being studied.

Kate Kagan, Ph.D.,
Russell Sage College, Troy, NY

Intended Audience(s): High School & College

Keyword: Technology

Examples in: English and Spanish

Language(s) spoken: English

Technology gives teachers many choices when it comes to creating lessons and activities for students, but not all technology ensures successful delivery. After experiencing TES Teach platform, I was impressed by the space that allowed me to create activities and to access, modify, develop and adapt online content – all while engaging students. TES Teach makes it easy to plan, build, and deliver interactive lessons with personal content, as well as content from YouTube, TES resources, and other digital media. Students can use TES Teach to create their own lessons and presentations on any topic. All participants in this presentation, regardless of the language they teach, will learn how to create a digital and creative lesson using TES Teach.

Have you ever wondered how technology and arts can work together to enhance students’ language ability? The presenter will demonstrate three dynamic, flexible and personalized online tools to bring more fun and laughter into your class. Incrediblock provides a creative and collaborative platform to deliver students’ thoughts through music. Quick, Draw gives opportunities for students with different talents to shine. Students also learn vocabulary in a fun way. Popplet helps students to organize content with visual supports and strengthens their critical thinking skills. With hands-on instructions, participants can create language songs, learn vocabulary by quick drawings and visualize their ideas using mind-mapping skills. Student work will be displayed at the presentation.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Elizabeth Contreras,
University of Pittsburgh at Greensburg, PA

Intended Audience(s): High School & College

Keyword: Technology

Examples in: Spanish

Language(s) spoken: English

This presentation gives language educators the opportunity of virtually exploring important places from Spanish speaking countries with their students, inside and outside the classroom. Digital mapping allows students to embark in virtual field trips they can design, customize and share with their class. These field trips can include museums, markets, monuments, natural wonders, and urban and/or rural landscapes. Virtual field trips promote a greater understanding of the diversity among different Spanish speaking countries. Positive attitude towards cultural differences, historical events and knowledge of diverse world perspectives are crucial components of the development of students’ cultural competence.

241. Best of ME: Be the Calm Classroom

Session: 8
Sutton North

Many of us are familiar with high energy brain breaks and movement activities, but what about those calmer techniques that also support children? This conversation builds off of my 2018 NNELL Keynote speech, sharing ideas and resources to incorporate techniques and activities that create peaceful moments, engage the brain with purposeful movement, and provide alternatives to energetic activities which many young children have difficulty handling without losing self control, yet still support learning and aid in classroom management. Geared primarily for elementary classrooms, these are also applicable to all grade levels.

242. Featured Session: AP For All:
Heritage Learners and Educators in Nueva York

Session: 8
Sutton Center

“I can speak Spanish, pero me cuesta escribirlo.” We hear it countless times, both in and out of class, and we are addressing that challenge! Over 55,000 NYC students took an AP exam last year. Among them is a growing number of Latinx students who take the AP Spanish Language and Culture course and exam. Our heritage language learners face different challenges than our L2 learners, especially in the presentational mode. Join us to learn what factors and classroom techniques contributed to those students’ success. Three AP teachers and AP table leaders share their experiences and instructional strategies that led to improved student performance throughout the city. Participants will analyze student samples and hear students’ voices on the challenges and impacts of the course and exam results.

243. Supporting Learners Along
Pathways to Seal of Biliteracy and Beyond

Session: 8
Sutton South

All means all: Are all learners given equitable access to programs and assessments to achieve a seal of biliteracy (SOBL)? Examine updated guidelines outlining what state education agencies and organizations, public school districts, and non-public institutions can do to document learners’ achievement of a state’s SOBL. Create pathways for heritage and non-native learners to “level up” to the required level of proficiency.

244. Providing for All Students’ Needs
with Creative, Innovative Lessons

Session: 8
Regent

The three presenters have spent the last several years attempting to create lessons that will provide our students with the skills they will need in the 21st century. At our presentation, we will demonstrate how, through the use of technology, i.e. tasks, hyperdocs, self-reflections, etc., teachers can provide for all students’ needs, with a greater possibility for differentiation, thus giving students choices and the opportunity to be successful. In this session participants will explore different ways using Google tools to access a student’s performance and proficiency differentiated by a student’s interests, learning readiness, abilities and prior knowledge.

245. Promoting Rigor and Engagement
in the Chinese Classroom: Play and Learn

Session: 8
Bryant

Promoting rigor and engagement in world language teaching is becoming more and more necessary and even urgent. Backed up by such theories as Bloom’s Taxonomy, Backward Design, and the IMAGE Model, the presenter, believing that language learning should be fun, exciting, and meaningful, will introduce a variety of effective strategies and minds-on collaborative activities designed to engage students from multi-level Chinese classrooms. Around the World, Taboo, Tableau, Virtual Gallery Walk, Put a Cap on Learning, to name just a few. Procedures, protocols, and samples will be shared for next day teaching. Project-based learning and portfolio-based assessment will also be highlighted to cater to diverse student populations. The audience will walk away with concrete ideas to power up their classrooms.

<td>It's Complicated – Developing Confident Communication in All Students</td>
<td>World language courses broach multifaceted topics in pursuit of the 5Cs. It is important to hear from all of our students, but it’s challenging to include all voices in classroom conversations. Many students struggle to express themselves, even when they have valuable contributions. A handful of voices or viewpoints can dominate a conversation. Time and logistical limitations make it feel impossible to assess each student. In this interactive session, you’ll practice three classroom strategies for developing confident oral and written expression from students of all ages, ability levels, and personality types.</td>

| 247. | The Real World: The Language Classroom | Have you ever wished you could attend a session where you could peek into the teacher’s classroom and see what they are doing with students from day one to the final assessment? Have you wondered what learning a language looks like in the real world with real kids and real teachers who face the same challenges as you? Then this session is for you! Join this ACTFL Teacher of the Year and her colleague as they show you sample learning episodes from French, German, and Spanish classrooms at their school. Pictures and videos will show what students were asked to do, what resources they were given, and how they performed—from start to finish. See how learning to become a proficient speaker of a language is made possible for all students at all levels in the real world. |

| 248. | Fostering Active Learning through the Use of Images | Images are a powerful tool for promoting student-centered learning and integrating cultural topics into lesson plans. Through their description and interpretation of visual information, students can construct knowledge and formulate ideas in the target language with reduced instructor intervention, setting the stage for a more student-centered classroom. In this session, presenters will share ideas on how to use culturally relevant images as the point of departure for the creation of linguistic activities, as well activities focusing on cultural understanding, cross-cultural comparisons and critical thinking. |

| 249. | Engaging Students Through Questioning in the Foreign Language Classroom | When it comes for administrators to observe and evaluate a foreign language class the very first thing they do when giving you feedback is “What questioning techniques did you use in order to engage your students and get them talking and discussing the topic?” Questioning techniques are very important in any classroom that is how we are making sure we are promoting effective learning. In a foreign language classroom you can make sure you are actually doing it by teaching your students how to ask questions and have discussions among themselves. This session will provide you with tools and ideas on how to start teaching your students to ask questions. |

| 250. | Empower Yourself, Empower Others | Two paths brought the presenter to leadership in her community: using and teaching about ACTFL’s core practices and Krashen’s hypotheses, and identifying her own vision and mission statements. As a teacher in a district without department chairs, there is little collaboration on a larger scale. By being a part of ACTFL-LILL and NYSAFLT’s Leaders of Tomorrow, the presenter had the opportunity to collaborate with a group of language educator-leaders from all parts of the country, in diverse positions and at different stages of careers. This session aims to showcase what leadership can be, how to identify one’s cornerstone beliefs and show them to others, and how to lead without being an administrator. |

| 252. | The Case of the Disappearing Requirement | College and university professors read with alarm the demise of over 650 language programs in the past year. High school teachers see yet another motivation slipping away from them. Foreign Language may be no longer for all. Why are these programs disappearing and what can we do about it? Why do schools and colleges no longer even require a language? This session will attempt to analyze the phenomenon of the vanishing language requirements and programs, and with the help of the participants propose solutions to this contemporary challenge. |

253. Mead Project: Over 100 Videos to Help Integrate Perú into Your Lessons
Session: 8  Clinton
Want to access over 100 cultural videos that will help you integrate Perú into the curriculum? It’s challenging to find videos for the classroom, and this workshop will provide you with the material that students need in order to learn about Peruvian culture: daily routines, common foods, professions, culture shock, the arts, and more. Participants will experience lessons centered around the videos, with accompanying activities aimed to develop intercultural competence and to practice all modes of communication. By the end of the workshop, you will gain access to these plentiful videos, collaborate with colleagues during a variety of creative and hands-on activities, and receive templates you can modify to create lessons of your own.

Session: 8  New York Suite, 4th Fl.
In the L2 classroom, promoting an understanding of the breadth and diversity of the French and Spanish-speaking world is critical. The effective integration of culture allows us not only to spark student interest, but meet world-readiness standards and build 21st century skills. In this interactive session, we seek to share strategies for scaffolding cultural products and practices from the French and Spanish-speaking diaspora in intermediate level language courses. Multimodal examples include texts and media from South America, the Caribbean, and West Africa, and accompanying activities that target all modes of communication.

256. Collaboration: The Key to Shining a Spotlight on World Language Programs
Session: 8  East Suite, 4th Fl.
By collaborating with other teachers in multiple disciplines from music to art to technology and beyond, we can shine a brighter spotlight on the world language classroom by gaining access to a greater audience. In this way, important stakeholders in the community can see the valuable work going on in our world language classrooms and see the connections that can be made across the curriculum. This session will empower educators to collaborate with other educators to create outstanding language showcase opportunities in the community. Many ideas for collaborative programs will be shared that participants will be able to immediately implement in their own schools and districts.

Saturday, February 15, Session 8, 1:00–2:00 p.m.
251. Research Roundtable (RRT)

Session: 8

In this special session, there will be two presenters stationed at each of the tables, with one presenter sharing his or her topic during the first half and the second presenter during the second half. We recommend that presenters speak/share findings for approximately 18 to 20 minutes, leaving about 10 minutes for discussion and questions. We will repeat this format during the second segment of the session. You may stay at the same table for the entire two presentations, or change tables at mid-session for the second presentation.

251. Table 1. Constructing Grammar with a Cultural Base

Session: 8

For many students, language in itself without a specific and meaningful context in which to use it is insufficient. Thus, it is important to present grammar in an authentic cultural context to prove its communicative validity. Exposing grammar in a realistic cultural scenario before explaining it makes students open to the explanation, curious to learn the rules, and interested in mastering the concept, recognizing it as the means by which to participate in and assimilate to the culture.

251. Table 1. Effectiveness of Communicative Processing Instruction When Teaching Spanish Past Tense

Session: 8

Spanish past tense is a challenging grammar structure for native speakers of English who are learning Spanish. Spanish has two tenses, preterit and imperfect, different endings for all subject pronouns, and many irregular conjugations. This paper presents the results of an empirical study that analyzes the strategies used by intermediate learners of Spanish while learning past tense. Those strategies are used to create a teaching methodology based on the communicative approach and the second language acquisition theories of “Processing Instruction” and “Input processing” created by VanPatten (1995, 2002) and Wong (2002).

251. Table 2. Who Develops Speaking Proficiency? Exploring Factors That Influence Gains in Proficiency

Session: 8

This presentation will discuss the results of large-scale proficiency testing of over 300 students studying Arabic, Chinese, French, German, Italian, and Spanish. These students took the Oral Proficiency Interview - Computer (OPIc) and completed background questionnaires targeting information about their language learning experiences and learner characteristics. We will discuss the factors that best predicted speaking proficiency in this study and subsequent related pedagogical interventions for increasing speaking proficiency.

Session: 8  Gramercy West
This presentation explores different strategies for integrating Francophonic into the teaching of the French language at the university level. We examine the challenges and rewards of a task-based approach, as well as several winning strategies. Our presentation will show how to integrate Francophonic in a fun way into the language course, thanks to the creation by students of "self-teaching" tools complementary to the textbook. This will allow us to achieve two goals: to show how these tools allow the student to approach and synthesize notions of civilization or culture that are sometimes difficult to grasp; the second objective of our presentation will be to illustrate how these "tools" make it possible to work on learning new vocabulary and comprehension, but also written and oral expression.

251. Table 3. Social Justice and Higher Education: Teaching Foreign Languages for Social Justice

Session: 8  Gramercy West
The paper will examine how students should be engaged in an educational process that aims to fulfill the main components of social justice. This will be done through creating assignments that develop a better understanding of the Arab-speaking world and the social movements in the Middle East (particularly in Arab countries). The main goal of the suggested plan is to enrich Arabic language knowledge through teaching social justice characteristics, terminology, and vocabulary on a global scale. The final paper will answer some important questions, including how to choose a textbook that works well with the topic, and how to create assignments that demonstrate, through comparisons of Arabic and American cultures, the understanding of social justice and the concept of culture.

251. Table 4. Influences of a MOPI Workshop on Language Teaching and Learning

Session: 8  Gramercy West
In U.S. higher education, the ACTFL guidelines have influenced many foreign language curricula in proficiency-based programs which define students’ language capacity at various stages in the learning process. However, relevant professional development (PD) opportunities for in-service instructors in post-secondary education are scarce. In addition, for those who do participate in such PD, the extent to which FL instructors apply their new knowledge and skills about assessment into program planning and understand their students’ proficiency after PD are often overlooked. This research presentation shows the influences of an online orientation and face-to-face MOPI workshop on teaching and learning in higher education.

251. Table 4. Developing L2 Proficiency and Engaging Students with Speech Communities

Session: 8  Gramercy West
Service learning has been used as an effective mechanism for creating ties between universities and communities. In L2 Spanish contexts, it has provided opportunities for learners to move out of the classroom setting and interact with native speakers. However, most of these experiences are not successfully implemented given the lack of conceptual and practical frameworks. The purpose of this presentation is to discuss the effectiveness of a service-learning program in Medical Spanish classes. By considering communities’ needs as a core component in establishing successful partnerships, the author proposes a bottom-up service-learning model that supports the improvement of L2 Spanish proficiency by creating institutional and cultural collaboration.

251. Table 5. Developing Korean Language Programs Focused on Korean Heritage Learners

Session: 8  Gramercy West
In this study, we examined the problems and prerequisites of Korean language instruction in several countries – issues such as the educational process, teaching curriculum, teaching materials, teaching methodology, and evaluation – in order to analyze the Korean language education centered on Korean heritage language learners in the U.S. The study pays particular attention to the possibility of developing a competitive Korean language education, plan to train instructors, and developing supporting programs for associated primary, middle and high school education institutions.

251. Table 5. Instructional Practices of English-Chinese and English-Spanish Dual-Language Immersion Teachers

Session: 8  Gramercy West
We present the analysis of video, audio, and observation data from eight kindergarten classrooms at two separate sites, each observed at least twice. The observed classrooms include four English-Spanish and four English-Chinese cohorts following a 50/50 model in which 50% of instruction is delivered in English and 50% in Chinese/Spanish. Preliminary results indicate important differences and similarities for language use in the different classrooms and teachers’ instructional practices in each of the languages. Teachers’ instructional practices, the availability and type of language input, and their impact on opportunities for learning will be discussed in order to inform understanding about subject content teaching and language development in classrooms.

251. Table 6. Examining the Impact of Cross-cultural Professional Development in the U.S.

Session: 8
Gramercy West

This study examines the impact of a U.S.-based PD program on bilingual coordinators from Spain. The program’s purpose was to deepen international WL coordinators’ leadership and pedagogical practices to create more learner-directed, proficiency-oriented, standards-based classrooms that promote engaged learning and authentic language development through content instruction. Analysis of participants’ portfolios, critical reflective practices, and post-program interviews revealed their understandings of U.S. approaches and program goals. Data also revealed the influence on the development of intercultural competence. Using an inquiry lens, the results underscore the importance of considering expanded possibilities for teacher PD across borders to learn more about WL instructional approaches.

251. Table 6. State World Language Standards: Frameworks, Practices, and Implications

Session: 8
Gramercy West

This presentation presents the results of a comparative analysis of state world language standards in 2019. We examine when, how, and in what areas states have revised their standards since original publication, the extent to which states have adopted or adapted the ACTFL World-Readiness Standards (2015), and the terminology used in state frameworks for instruction and assessment of languages other than English. The study is supplemented with findings from a survey of Massachusetts educators on their experience with the state’s 1999 foreign languages curriculum framework. We will discuss implications for world language education for all learners, informed by the current state of world language standards in the United States and teacher attitudes from one state undergoing the revision process.

251. Table 7. How to Design Course Modules in Blended Learning in K-16

Session: 8
Gramercy West

This presentation will demonstrate a course unit that consists of three modules in online and blended learning environments. The unit focuses on learning the Korean alphabet and the introduction of Korean cultural items: Korean pop songs and food. All modules use various online tools and mobile applications that would help students achieve their can-do statement through collaborative and interactive activities. In this session, the presenter will discuss how to design and develop the blended learning modules using diverse technologies to enhance students’ active participation and creative skills in online/blended learning environments. This presentation also provides suggestions on how to design a blended course unit that could maximize the use of advanced tools in the digital age.

251. Table 8. K-Friends, Peer Learning Community of Practice

Session: 8
Gramercy West

K-Friends is a Community Learning Project for Korean language learners by native-speaking undergraduate students at a university. The project was launched and implemented by a Korean faculty member and a Korean international student organization. It was mainly to help Korean language learners with homework and conversation practice in a non-classroom setting. However, the project found that both student groups received benefits and advantages as K-Friends continued. The presenter will explore the approach and progress and share strategies and findings.

251. Table 9. Integrating Service-learning into Language Courses
Session: 8 Gramercy West
Service-learning opportunities encompassing a variety of courses across multiple disciplines have the potential to play a critical role in students’ experiences during their college years. My research focuses on the development, design, and implementation of a service-learning component into college-level language courses, specifically Spanish. We will discuss our objectives for such classes, specific projects, challenges and benefits to everyone involved. In addition, relevant perspectives from instructors and students in regards to service-learning projects will be shared with the audience.

251. Table 10. Why Intercultural Communicative Competence and How? Are We Prepared?
Session: 8 Gramercy West
Intercultural Communicative Competence (ICC) is a foreign topic to many veteran world language teachers. Newer or pre-service teachers might have some understanding of the concept but, still, are not exactly sure of the significance of ICC, its benefits or how to implement it. This curricular project is based on studies that have focused on the meaning of ICC as well as the lack of training for teachers. It includes practical ideas for implementation of ICC in a Spanish I classroom, as well as reflections on planning, instruction, student learning, and student reactions.

251. Table 10. Multi-level World Language Classes: Reality and Innovative Solutions
Session: 8 Gramercy West
Multi-level classes have proliferated over the past few decades due to declining enrollments, diminished budgets and competition with advanced level classes in other content areas. A multi-level classroom can have a significant impact on opportunities for proficiency development in the classroom. This session will present the results of a national research project that investigated this long-standing trend and engage session participants in a discussion of real-world adaptations for the realities of today's classroom.

251. Table 11. Film Subtitling in the Foreign Language Classroom: An Effective Instructional Tool
Session: 8 Gramercy West
Audiovisual material has been used for many years in the language classroom. Showing films with subtitles has been proved to be useful in many ways. However, language learners have traditionally adopted a passive role, merely limited to watching an already subtitled film in their L2. This study proposes the introduction of an interactive subtitling module in a higher education language course, in which students actively participate in the creation of subtitles. Working with authentic films is expected to be engaging and motivating; improve learners' vocabulary, listening, reading, and writing skills; and sharpen their intercultural knowledge. Thanks to the different codes present in audiovisual material, one can anticipate this experience to be beneficial for different learning styles.

260.  Best of NH: Using Comprehensible Input to Empower Students with Social and Emotional Challenges

Session: 9  Beekman

For students with anxiety or other social, emotional, and behavioral challenges, the world language classroom can be an extremely intimidating place. In this session, the presenter will provide an overview of community building strategies and comprehensible input techniques that cultivate an empowering community for all types of learners. Attendees will also explore the specifics of anxiety disorders and why language classrooms can be particularly challenging for these students.

261.  Engaging All Language Learners with Free Tech Tools

Session: 9  Sutton North

This session presents ten free online tools that can be used in any language class to inspire and engage students. The presenters will demonstrate the tools and discuss options for incorporating them at different language levels. Session participants will leave with hands-on ideas for implementing these tools in their own teaching. The tools are not language specific and the majority of them can be adapted for any language. The selected tools encourage communication and interaction, foster all skill areas, and support proficiency-based instruction. Additionally, the tools can be used for a variety of educational goals: fostering pronunciation skills, practicing oral competencies, promoting cultural awareness, encouraging critical thinking and discussion skills, and many more.

262.  Featured Session: Teaching our Tongues: Celebrating Linguistic and Cultural Diversity in Schools

Session: 9  Sutton Center

In our linguistically diverse schools, we boast a student body in which many different languages are spoken in our students’ homes. With such a wealth of languages, it is important to find ways to celebrate students’ languages in a public and enjoyable way. Student-run language classes are an excellent means of tapping in to the talent, generosity of spirit, and pride in home cultures and languages that exist in our schools. In this session, we will explore a decade-long student-run language program that involved middle and high school students in teaching classes in their home language for other students, teachers, and community members. Resources, materials, and examples will be provided to inspire participants to undertake a similar project in their own school contexts.

263.  Safe Space, Brave Space: Creating Empowering Learning Environments Through Theatre

Session: 9  Sutton South

Creating a safe environment is essential to support the learning of our students. When students feel safe, they feel encouraged to leave their comfort zones, take risks, and challenge themselves. They develop the growth mindset that allows them to see obstacles and mistakes as unique opportunities to grow and learn. Come explore the uses of theatre in the classroom to promote bonding, a sense of community, and to help your students come out of their shells. You will be exposed to a variety of acting/improv techniques and drama exercises aimed at developing empathy, creativity, and confidence. When we create a safe learning environment for our students, they feel empowered to take the reins of their learning process, and brave to perform the leading role in their education.

266. Using Rhymes and Raps to Increase Student Language Proficiency

Session: 9 Nassau East

Rhymes and raps are effective in helping students learn a language. Chanting a rhyme or rap is more pleasant and memorable than reciting a plain text. Using rhymes and raps in teaching a language has many benefits: improve students’ language proficiency; develop students’ sophisticated aural memory and perception; motivate students to use language in a creative way; increase students’ interest and pleasure in learning; enhance rigor of instruction and practice; and help students better understand and master phonetic knowledge. In this session, the presenter will provide examples that she and her students have written. She will also explain different ways to create rhymes and raps with new expressions and sentence structures on different themes. Rubrics will also be introduced.

267. Trauma-informed Practices in the World Language Classroom

Session: 9 Nassau West

Not all students who enter our classroom are prepared to learn. Trauma, especially that endured under the age of 18, can affect the cognitive abilities of our students to process information and produce language. In this session, we will review some aspects of brain science, complex trauma, and the effects of trauma on the adolescent brain. Using the ARC model, we will work on building relationships and developing specific strategies to support all learners, especially our neediest students. Participants will leave the session with some important background information, but also concrete examples that will help their students achieve success in the language classroom.

268. A Proficiency-based Four-semester College Sequence – Essential Questions

Session: 9 Murray Hill East

How can the proficiency movement inform teaching and learning in the college language sequence? Join the discussion and engage with colleagues on challenging questions facing post-secondary language programs. With illustrations from one department’s ongoing curricular redesign, this session will pose key questions for discussion of proficiency scales and targets, learning goals and outcomes, appropriate assessment and instructional practices. Participants can select one element of proficiency-based curricular redesign to pilot, such as the revision of course or unit goals, or the design and implementation of a common performance assessment. They leave equipped to conduct their project for collegial curriculum redesign at home, whether by a few colleagues or a whole department.

269. Fun and Engaging Activities to Implement High Leverage Practices

Session: 9 Murray Hill West

Are you looking for new concepts to help you implement core practices in your classes that will help improve the achievement of all students? This session will provide a variety of activities for practicing and assessing student-to-student communication in pairs and small groups, while keeping them engaged and having fun in the target language. Exercises demonstrated will cover the three modes of communication and will be geared towards all learners regardless of age, socio-economic background, ethnicity and learning differences. This will be a highly interactive session and participants will leave with materials and new ideas to utilize in class on Monday morning. Activities presented can be adapted to all languages and levels.

270. Increase Student Target Language Use in Classroom Using Five Pedagogical Pillars

Session: 9 Gramercy West

Getting students to overcome their shyness and fear of embarrassment to speak up in a language class is tough. This interactive session will provide strategies for five pedagogical pillars to show you how to get students talking. The five pillars are: Inductive Learning (focusing on the meaning, not the mechanics, of the language), Real-Life Learning (maximizes real-world learning experiences to develop the skills needed to communicate), Learning Strategies (support students in using language for enjoyment, enrichment and advancement); Social and Emotional Relevance (motivating students to take the risk to communicate in a new language); and Cultural and Intercultural Learning (helping students interact with cultural competence and understanding). This will be an interactive session.

280. Getting our Novice Students to Speak the Target Language

Session: 10  Beekman

In this session, we will explore strategies and activities that will help our novice level students to continuously speak the target language in a way that is attainable and non-threatening. Additionally, we will consider how we can keep our students accountable when it comes to staying in the target language, along with ways that we can structure our activities to take away the temptation of resorting to the learner’s first language. Participants will then consider their own teaching situations and brainstorm ways in which they can bring each activity or strategy back to their own classrooms. Finally, we will discuss ideas on how we can help our students to overcome the fear of speaking a new language.

281. Heritage Learners of Spanish: Using Assessments to Promote Inclusivity

Session: 10  Sutton North

This presentation will focus on the relationship between race and language assessment, particularly as it pertains to heritage language learners of Spanish, a racialized minority in the United States. Heritage language learners are usually evaluated by how well they can produce a standard variety of Spanish. We argue that holding heritage language learners only to a standard variety inadvertently stigmatizes their linguistic practices, exacerbates their linguistic insecurity, and discriminates against them, with language as a proxy for race. The presenters will give attendees concrete ways to implement assessments in their language classrooms that attenuate the possibility of inadvertent discrimination against heritage language learners and increase inclusivity in the language classroom.

282. Featured Session: Reading is FUNdamental: Bringing Joy into Your Reading Units

Session: 10  Sutton Center

Do you know that collective buzz that radiates throughout your class when students hear the word movie? Or iPads? Or playground? Well, we want to transfer that feeling to reading. ¡Si se puede! Join us as we share a host of no- and low-prep games, activities, and scaffolds that will excite students and liven up your next reading unit. Whether you are working with a poem, short story, or full novel, our strategies meet the needs of all learners, are fully customizable, and range in intellectual lift from basic comprehension to higher-order thinking skills. Best of all, many of our strategies make use of the latest and greatest #EdTech! This workshop is perfect for those who are looking for engagement strategies and inspiration as they take their instruction to the next level.

283. Raising the Bar for All Learners: Incorporating Critical Thinking Strategies

Session: 10  Sutton South

Transfer of learning starts with initial learning experiences. Memorizing vocabulary and conjugating verbs is unlikely to cause students to gain sufficient understanding of concepts to be able to transfer them to unique situations. This session with focus on those strategies that promote deeper learning and thus prepare students to be able to use knowledge and skills in real world situations in the target culture and when interacting with native speakers. Attendees will leave with an understanding of transfer and with a bank of strategies to apply in their lessons.

284. Authentic Listening Resources for Spanish Classes

Session: 10  Regent

Alejandro Yegros, the maker of the verb app CONJUGUEMOS (and Spanish teacher), will introduce you to a new resource of free authentic listening resources. Over 100 Spanish videos, each with accompanying multiple online graded activities and worksheets. These videos align with common curricular topics in Spanish 1–3 sequences. The presenter will also discuss strategies for implementing listening routines that he has used in his own classes.

285. Strategies for Increasing Intercultural Competence in the Classroom and Abroad

Session: 10  Bryant

This presentation describes the use of intensive cultural reflection activities for the development of intercultural competence in short-term study abroad programs in Germany and Spain. The presenters outline ways in which these activities can be adapted for on-campus classes to increase engagement with the target culture and language. The activities presented include: reflective journaling, photo-blogging, ethnographic projects, video recorded interviews, cultural observations, scavenger hunts, and cultural reflection essays. Suggestions for increasing cultural learning and intercultural development in study abroad and the classroom will be provided.

286. Introverts in the World Language Classroom

Session: 10
Nassau East

Teachers all have students in the classroom who are quieter than others. But just because they are quiet, it doesn't mean they aren't engaged in the lesson. How can teachers reach those quieter students? How do they assess them? What does it mean to be an introverted student--or even an introverted teacher--in a noisy world? Participants will leave with resources and strategies to use with their students in order to help them be engaged with the content and to show what they've learned.

Organizer/Presenter(s):
Lisa Urso,
Rocky Hill High School, Rocky Hill, CT

Intended Audience(s): PreK-16+ (all)
Keyword: Instructional strategies
Examples in: French and Spanish
Language(s) spoken: English

287. Mindfulness for More Productivity in The World Language Classroom

Session: 10
Nassau West

In this workshop, we will work on mindfulness strategies that we can use for ourselves and our students. This interactive workshop will allow you to begin or deepen your own skills and share those techniques with your students in the target language. By helping students to settle themselves and be in the present moment, you are giving them valuable life skills to be more effective learners. These self-care techniques will help to build the community in your classroom.

288. Create a Dual Credit World Language Program at Your Institution

Session: 10
Murray Hill East

In this session we will share how we have created a dual credit program for students to receive university credit for quality world language study at the high school level. We will present our rationale, initial articulation process, curriculum approaches, student application procedures, and student feedback on the program. Attendees will come away with an outline on how to propose and implement a similar articulation at their local institutions.

Organizer/Presenter(s):

289. Multiple Pathways within an IPA: Many Roads Lead to Proficiency

Session: 10
Murray Hill West

Presenters will share how IPA structure can provide multiple options for students to accomplish performance goals. By focusing on products, practices and perspectives through literary characters from TL, presenters’ model units will illustrate how students can create a biographical narrative of a peer in a variety of formats. Participants will be guided through the development of an IPA lesson series incorporating a series of rubrics to assess a variety of formative and summative assessments. Resources will include myths, legends and other well-known TL literature. By providing options for how students demonstrate their proficiency, language acquisition becomes more accessible. Participants will receive templates to create their own IPA lesson series.

290. Fostering Resiliency in the World Language Classroom

Session: 10
Gramercy East

Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) impact a student’s brain function. However, caring, connected relationships and a sense of belonging can foster resiliency. The presenter will share current research on how ACEs effect our students and strategies to promote trust, equity and engagement in the classroom. Starting at the door, participants will experience techniques for building relationships, such as personalized questions, rejoinders, celebrating successes and positive peer connections. The strategies are student-focused, compassionate and personalized so that they reach every child at every age while maintaining the target language in a way that is comprehensible and supports language acquisition. Resiliency develops better citizens who are prepared to deal with adversity.

291. Bringing Big Ideas and Meaningful Content into Beginner-level Courses

Session: 10
Gramercy West

One challenge that students face when learning a new language is feeling limited in their expression. Simplistic vocabulary can constrain learning to concrete ideas, centered on one's own experience. By reframing units with essential questions and powerful key words, teachers can maintain target-language instruction while opening the door for deeper learning. Beginner-level classes can explore topics such as having vs. being, luxury vs. necessity, and house vs. home. Authentic images and texts sourced from websites and social media can spark conversations about identity and diversity, as well as global and social issues. This session provides a sampling of activities and resources in Spanish, adaptable for other languages.

<td>292. Connecting with Cuba: A Unique Context for Growing Intercultural Competence</td>
<td>Gibson</td>
<td>In the Spanish language classroom, it is easy to establish numerous and often surprising connections between Cuba and the U.S. Henry Reeve fought in the U.S. Civil War and died fighting for Cuban Independence. JLo sings with Gente de Zona, Pitbull sings of Yuma and everyone is leaving their heart in Havana. José Martí, who at 16 was imprisoned for the cause of independence, loved the Cat Skills and is found in Central Park. Cuban movies consider patriotism, sexual identity, friendship, Tainos, Hemmingway and even sharks! The Cuban experience offers students a unique context to develop investigation and communication skills in Spanish and to reflect on the experience of their own country as they study this U.S. neighbor and establish an experience of their own. Instructor will introduce key points of inquiry-based learning and their connection with real-life situations. She will also provide the audience with a variety of examples of projects, including general descriptions as well as evaluation rubrics. The conclusion of the session includes a unique, hands-on experience to get a better understanding of the inquiry process from the students’ point of view.</td>

<td>295. Making Connections to Support all Language Learners</td>
<td>New York Suite, 4th Fl.</td>
<td>In the United States, nearly five million K-12 students with limited proficiency in English (also known as emergent bilinguals/EBs) navigate complex academic content in English-dominant schools (Sánchez, 2017). Although world language teachers are often tasked with supporting EBs in their schools, many feel unequipped to do so. In this presentation we discuss several strategies and approaches that enable teachers to support and advocate for EBs while also modeling linguistic diversity for more “traditional” populations of English home language students. Outlining research and resources in sheltered instruction, translanguaging pedagogies, and intercultural competence, we demonstrate how teachers can harness these strategies to empower all plurilingual learners in their schools.</td>

THE NORTHEAST CONFERENCE NELSON H. BROOKS AWARD FOR OUTSTANDING LEADERSHIP IN THE PROFESSION

Amanda Seewald

Amanda Seewald has over 20 years of experience as an educator, curriculum developer, educational consultant, teacher trainer, author, and presenter. She is the owner of Maracas Educational Programs and Learning Kaleidoscope Educational Consulting. Amanda serves as the immersion program consultant at Herricks Public Schools in New York and Mendon Upton public schools in Massachusetts. In Pocantico Hills school district in New York, Amanda serves as the Global Dimensions and world language consultant where she has developed a K-8 program focused on global learning via language. Amanda serves on state, regional, and national boards and is currently president-elect of JNCL-NCLIS and immediate past president of FLENJ. Amanda understands the strong relationship between research and effective classroom practice. She shares her skills as an instructional leader with dual language immersion, ELL and FLES teachers. She is a passionate language advocate who works tirelessly to convey the benefits of language learning to policy makers and administrators. Amanda has a way of getting things done. She was instrumental in getting the New Jersey legislature to pass a bill for the Seal of Biliteracy. She is adept at getting the right message to the right people in order to affect change. Amanda is a true role model for teachers and language advocates.

THE NORTHEAST CONFERENCE JAMES W. DODGE FOREIGN LANGUAGE ADVOCATE AWARD

Fabrice Jaumont, International Educator, Researcher, Author

Nicknamed “the Godfather of language immersion programs” by the New York Times, Fabrice Jaumont has more than 25 years of experience in international education and the development of multilingual programs. He currently serves as Education Attaché for the Embassy of France to the United States and is executive director of the Center for the Advancement of Languages, Education, and Communities, an adjunct professor in international education at NYU Steinhardt, and a research fellow at Fondation Maison des Sciences de l’Homme. He hosts a podcast, a blog, speaks to audiences world-wide and has published five books. The Bilingual Revolution: The Future of Education is in Two Languages, provides inspirational vignettes and practical advice for parents and educators who want to create a dual-language program in their own school. His most recent book The Gift of Languages: Paradigm Shift in U.S. Foreign Language Education, co-written with Kathleen Stein-Smith, touches on the issue of a foreign language deficit in the United States and sets the stage for a new paradigm in our approach to teaching and learning languages. Fabrice is a powerful advocate for immersion programs and bilingualism around the world.

THE STEPHEN A. FREEMAN AWARD FOR BEST PUBLISHED ARTICLE ON TEACHING TECHNIQUES

Susan A. Hildebrandt, Ph.D., Illinois State University
Pete Swanson, Ph.D., U.S. Air Force Academy

“Re-examining Teacher Candidate Performance on World Language edTPA as a Consequential Assessment,” NECTFL Review Number 84, September 2019, pp. 15–33

This well-researched, well-organized, and well-written article cogently addresses several serious issues concerning the edTPA assessment of beginning teacher effectiveness and its impact on world language teaching and learning. Although the article is an empirical study of two individual teacher preparation programs, the information that it cites and the questions that it raises reflect an alarming national and not local trend. In this period in which there is a severe teacher shortage, especially in world languages, the steady growth in the use of the high-stakes performance assessment edTPA and its inclusion in over 800 educator preparation programs in 41 states and the District of Columbia is causing great concern and worry over the effective assessment of teacher quality and not just teacher effectiveness. Susan Hildebrandt and Pete Swanson have certainly sounded the alarm. Robert Terry, Editor, NECTFL Review

Promoting the PA Seal of Biliteracy

The Seal of Biliteracy provides employers and universities with a method of identifying people who are bilingual, recognizes students with 21st century skills, and encourages students to study other languages and cultures. Also, the Seal of Biliteracy has the potential to make world language education more visible and to positively influence public opinion about the value of bilingualism and cultural understanding. Currently, 36 states and Washington, D.C. have an approved Seal of Biliteracy; however, the Seal in Pennsylvania is currently “under consideration.” This project will promote the Seal of Biliteracy in Pennsylvania at both the local and state level. Locally, I will work with my school district to offer its own seal of biliteracy to its high school graduates which will serve as a model for other districts in the state. Moreover, I will communicate information about the Seal of Biliteracy to state legislators, teachers, administrators and stakeholders in PA via state language organizations and conferences, a web page and social media to provide support for the approval of the PA Seal of Biliteracy and to support teachers and districts interested in implementing a program that provides both an incentive and recognition for their students who are biliterate.

Cherie Garrett is a Spanish teacher and world language department chair in the Dallastown Area High School, York County, PA.

Recruiting World Language Teacher Candidates

This project contributes to world language (WL) education by fostering the ongoing recruitment of qualified teacher candidates through a high quality, target language, open educational resources curriculum. Swanson (2012) accurately stated that teacher recruitment is a long-term process, requiring regular interventions and up-to-date resources. WL teachers, as critical advocates for the profession and the best judges of student language proficiency and dispositions for teaching, are clearly in the best position to engage in this recruitment. However, there is a disconnect between ACTFL’s important policy of conducting 90% of classroom instruction in the target language and ACTFL’s recruitment curriculum, Educators Rising 2.0 (2019), which is in English. Therefore, in this project I propose collaborating with K-12 WL teachers in the Northeast region to translate and adapt the Educators Rising 2.0 curriculum into accessible, interactive modules that can be easily incorporated into WL classrooms. After an initial assessment of existing recruitment-related resources in target languages, I will work with a group of these teachers translate and adapt Educators Rising 2.0 and existing target-language resources into an accessible, easily implementable language teacher recruitment curriculum, which will be disseminated among NECTFL members, members of state language associations, partnership districts, and other stakeholders.

Michele Back is an assistant professor of world language education at the University of Connecticut in Storrs, CT.

About the Award

This scholarship is provided to support an individual in the development of a project that contributes to the foreign language teaching profession and advances quality language instruction. The Mead program was created to develop future leaders for the profession at the state, regional, and national levels. Educators of all languages at all levels are encouraged to apply to this program, designed to identify potential leaders in education and to support the development of their potential. Each scholarship recipient will be assigned a mentor with expertise in the area of that person's project, and NECTFL will facilitate virtual and, if possible, face-to-face meetings of the two.

General Information

Since 2000, the NECTFL Review has published articles of interest to instructors, researchers, and administrators at all educational levels on theory, research, and classroom practice in language teaching. In addition to scholarly articles, the NECTFL Review includes reviews of products of interest to world language educators, written by language professionals at all levels representing all languages. Until 2005, the Review was available in print only, then in 2005 both online and in print. In 2009, the journal began publishing uniquely online, maintaining the same professional rigor in the selection and publication of articles that had seen the journal take its place among the ranks of highly recognized foreign language publications. The journal is published twice a year, in March and in September. There is no deadline for submission of articles.

Abbreviated guidelines for the preparation of manuscripts and a checklist for manuscript preparation are published in every issue of the journal and also appear in full online at http://www.nectfl.org/publications/

- Guidelines for Preparation of Manuscripts
- A Checklist for Manuscript Preparation
- Author/Article Information

Each article is reviewed by at least three nationally-known experts in the field of world language teaching who make up the Editorial Board and the list of reviewers. Elements that are considered in the evaluation process are the article’s appropriateness for the journal’s readership; its contribution to foreign language education and the originality of that contribution; the soundness of the research or theoretical base; its implications for the classroom; and finally, organization, focus, and clarity of expression. Authors are notified about the status of their articles within two months from the date of submission.

For those interested in reviewing materials, contact Tom Conner, Review Editor, tom.conner@snc.edu

Guidelines for reviewers can be found at http://www.nectfl.org/publications/.

A Message from the 2021 Chair

Dear NECTFL Friends and Colleagues,

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to the 2020 Northeast Conference. Chair Nathan Lutz and the entire NECTFL Board have worked hard to organize the best professional development for world language educators.

As the chair of next year’s conference, I invite you to join us back here at the NY Hilton Midtown from February 25-27, 2021. The theme for the 67th annual conference will be Finding Our Voice: World Languages for Social Justice. We see this as a timely topic that will challenge us all to reconsider our units to be inclusive, address diverse perspectives, connect with local and global communities, and confront societal concerns.

Our keynote will be delivered by Sydney Chaffee, 2017 National Teacher of the Year and humanities teacher in Massachusetts. She will address why social justice belongs in our schools and the role teachers play in developing students who will strive for a more just society. Her speech will certainly inspire us to consider our responsibility in educating future generations of leaders and active citizens.

Our conference is only as strong as those who share their knowledge and experience, so please consider submitting a presentation proposal. Our program will include in-depth three and six-hour pre-conference workshops, a variety of sessions, featured presentations by distinguished speakers, as well as our #techlab, Research Roundtable, and “Best of State” sessions. We welcome all proposals—those with a connection to our theme as well as those that address topics of general interest in the field. Proposals can be submitted at www.nectfl.org/conference.

Please enjoy your 2020 NECTFL Conference; I look forward to seeing you again next year at the 2021 Northeast Conference in New York City!

L’AATF est le plus important réseau de professeurs et d’enseignants de français aux États-Unis. Suivant sa mission de promouvoir l’enseignement et l’apprentissage du français et de la culture francophone, l’association s’actualise afin de mieux répondre à vos besoins en tant qu’enseignants.

Notre nouvelle image place l’enseignant au cœur même de l’Association et démontre tout le dynamisme avec lequel nous souhaitons appuyer nos membres. Par cette démarche, l’AATF fait la promesse de promouvoir l’enrichissement professionnel et personnel des enseignants et professeurs à travers l’échange et la collaboration entre nos membres.

Venez nous rejoindre à Trois-Rivières au Québec pour le 93e congrès de l’AATF du 15 au 18 juillet 2020.
